Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM D K Shivakumar with AICC General Secretary K C Venugopal after a meeting with the high command in New Delhi on Tuesday | PARVEEN NEGI

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah late on Tuesday night agreed to step down as chief minister, confirmed sources privy to the marathon meetings held earlier in the day in New Delhi. However, although Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar is the frontrunner for the post, no decision has been taken on who would succeed Siddaramaiah nor when he would resign as chief minister.

But sources said the chief minister has sought time to meet Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot at Lok Bhavan at 2 pm on May 28 and called for the Congress Legislature Party meeting the following day. AICC General Secretary KC Venugopal and AICC General Secretary in charge of Karnataka Randeep Singh Surjewala are scheduled to arrive in Bengaluru on Wednesday.

Sources informed TNIE that Congress leader and Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi asked Siddaramaiah to step down to resolve the prolonged tussle between him and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. They said the chief minister agreed to step down after a late-evening huddle with MLAs supporting him.

Shivakumar had been insisting that the party high command hand over the CM post to him, based on an agreement of sharing power for two-and-a-half years that he is said to have struck with Siddaramaiah after the party came to power in Karnataka after the 2023 Assembly polls.

Speculation was rife about the leadership change since November 2025 when the half-way mark of the five-year CM's term was reached.

Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar were summoned on Monday to Delhi, where Rahul is said to have told the chief minister that the party wanted the transition to be smooth. At the meeting, Rahul offered a Rajya Sabha seat for Siddaramaiah to play a "larger role" at the national level, and the latter has sought time to respond to the party high command's suggestion, according to sources.

After marathon meetings spanned from 11.35 am to 6 pm, a visibly upset Siddaramaiah huddled with his coterie of cabinet colleagues at Karnataka Energy Minister KJ George's New Delhi residence and conveyed the high command's message to them. He is said to have agreed to step down after this meeting, sources said.

At the same time, Shivakumar and his supporters looked upbeat over the prospect of him becoming chief minister.

Siddaramaiah was carrying a letter of support from 100 party MLAs (Congress has 134 out of 224 seats in the Assembly) to convince the high command about the support he enjoyed from his legislators. P4

Quad sharpens Indo-Pacific focus, unveils new initiatives

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

THE Quad grouping sharpened its strategic focus on the Indo-Pacific on Tuesday as the foreign ministers of India, the US, Japan and Australia unveiled a set of initiatives aimed at strengthening regional energy resilience, maritime security, critical mineral supply chains and port infrastructure.

The Quad Foreign Ministers' Meeting, held amid rising geopolitical competition and growing concerns over economic and energy vulnerabilities, signalled a broader push to institutionalise cooperation in major sectors while ensuring the bloc doesn't get the label of a security alliance.

At the heart of the announcements was the launch of the Quad Initiative on Indo-Pacific Energy Security, a framework to deepen cooperation in energy technology, policy coordination, and emergency response.

A joint statement said the initiative would seek to "recognize and leverage the unique resources and capabilities of each country's energy sector".

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar described the discussions as "substantive and productive," stressing the strategic importance of maritime collaboration among the four democracies. "Because we are four maritime democracies located at different ends of the Indo-Pacific, the exchange of perspectives was an exercise of considerable value," Jaishankar said after the meeting.

The broad package of initiatives reflects the Quad's evolving role into a platform for strategic economic coordination, resilience-building and infrastructure development across the Indo-Pacific.

Demographic change under lens

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE government on Tuesday constituted a high-level committee to study how illegal infiltration and other factors lead to unnatural demographic changes across the country.

Chaired by Justice (Retd) Prakash Prabhakar Nawlekar, the panel's members include Census Commissioner Mritunjay Kumar Narayan, former IAS officer Durga Shankar Mishra, retired IPS officer Balaji Shrivastava and educationist Shamika Ravi.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah said illegal infiltration and other reasons leading to unnatural demographic change is a very big challenge. The new panel is in line with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement on August 15, 2025, to constitute a high-powered demography mission, he said.

Describing the issue as one that goes beyond population data, Shah said demographic change has direct implications for sovereignty, law and order, social structure and the preservation of tribal communities. He said the initiative reflects a proactive effort to protect the country's integrity and social fabric through "well-informed and decisive action".

The committee has been tasked with submitting its report within a year.

25-DAY DEADLINE FOR OFFICIALS TO OPEN OKALIPURAM UNDERPASS TO VEHICLES

GBA chief orders all depts to carry out mandatory restoration work, maintain quality

GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao inspects pending work on the railway underpass in Okalipuram on Tuesday

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE
@Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao has set a 25-day deadline and directed officials to complete the pending works beneath the Chennai railway line on the Okalipuram eight-lane corridor.

After an inspection of various development projects under the jurisdictions of the Bengaluru Central City Corporation and West City Corporation, Rao noted that the Railway Department has already completed two box-pushing structures beneath the Chennai railway track.

"I have instructed officials to complete the construction of the connecting road for vehicular traffic through one of the box sections on the route from Majestic to Rajajinagar within 25 days. That apart, asked officials to immediately commence and complete within the stipulated time frame the construction of the connecting road to the box passage leading towards the railway station, a 1,200 mm diameter stormwater drain for rainwater discharge, a 63-metre retaining wall, and pedestrian footpaths," he said.

Rao also informed about the new pedestrian foot overbridge planned at the location. He instructed officials to begin the work at the earliest.

During an inspection of the Madhavanagar Railway Underpass near Shivananda Circle, Rao instructed desilting operations beneath the gratings and in the surrounding drains to facilitate the smooth flow of water. Officials were instructed to take all necessary precautionary measures to prevent waterlogging at the railway underpass during the monsoon season.

Observing construction in violation of the approved plan, he directed officials to issue a notice to the owner concerned and initiate appropriate legal action.

Noting that restoration work had not been properly carried out following KPTCL's road works, he instructed officials to take suitable action. He emphasized that all departments must carry out mandatory restoration work while maintaining quality standards after completing road repairs or other infrastructure work.

White-topping work has been undertaken on the 1.8-kilometre stretch of Dr Rajkumar Road from Navarang to Star Bazaar Signal.

The ongoing work on one side of the road is scheduled for completion by the end of July, after which it will be opened to traffic. Work on the opposite side will then commence, and officials were directed to complete the entire project by the end of October.

Ensure Kadirenahalli underpass does not flood again: Official

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER the recent rains, the Kadirenahalli underpass was flooded due to the lack of a proper drainage system, causing severe disruption to vehicular traffic in the surroundings. Naveen Kumar Raju, Additional Commissioner, development division of Bengaluru South City Corporation (BSCC), who inspected the site on Tuesday, instructed engineers to provide a strict and permanent drainage system to allow rainwater to flow smoothly.

Raju ordered officials to take appropriate technical measures to prevent water from leaking from the underpass walls and immediately carry out adequate concrete resurfacing work in areas where the road was dug for installation of a drainage pipeline and to repair the road.

He also inspected waste transfer points near Kadirenahalli Cross and Yelachenahalli Lake. "After the recent rains, inadequate drainage at Kadirenahalli underpass led to severe waterlogging, causing major disruptions to vehicular traffic. The corporation also issued directives to the on-site engineers to build a robust and permanent drainage system to ensure the smooth flow of rainwater," he said.

He ordered officials to take appropriate technical measures to prevent water leakage from the underpass walls. Furthermore, he instructed them to immediately carry out proper concrete resurfacing and repair road sections that were dug up for laying drainage pipelines.

CNG price hike gives sleepless nights to auto & cab drivers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the recent fuel price hikes, CNG prices in Bengaluru have now been increased by Rs 3, rising from Rs 92 per kg in early May to Rs 95 on Tuesday. With nearly 40% of autorickshaws and around 15,000 cabs in the city dependent on CNG, drivers say the increase will significantly impact their daily operational expenses and earnings. Transport unions and driver associations have now begun exploring a shift towards electric vehicles (EVs) as a long-term solution to rising fuel expenses.

Rudramurthy, general secretary of the Autorickshaw Drivers Union (ARDU), said converting older autos into electric vehicles was the only way that could help drivers reduce operating expenses and avoid the burden of high fuel costs. He also said that drivers currently spend hundreds of rupees daily on fuel, whereas electric vehicles could significantly lower running costs and help them repay vehicle loans more easily. "Instead of spending Rs 500-600 daily on fuel, that money can go towards loan repayment," he said.

According to Rudramurthy, nearly 30-40% of autos in the city currently operate on CNG, while a majority still use LPG. Many drivers shifted to CNG between 2020 and 2022 due to LPG shortages and fluctuating prices. However, high conversion costs and increasing CNG prices continue to remain a concern.

Meanwhile, Tanveer Pasha, president of the Ola-Uber Drivers' and Owners' Association, warned that repeated fuel price hikes, coupled with declining earnings and competition from bike-taxi operations, were pushing the sector into financial distress. He said unions may stage protests if the state and the central governments fail to respond to their demands for relief measures and subsidies for self-employed drivers.

Pasha added that cabbies are also struggling with rising rents and daily living expenses. According to Pasha, Bengaluru has nearly 10,000 to 15,000 cabs running on CNG. He said the federation of aggregator cab and auto unions would soon meet to decide their next course of action, including submitting representations to the Centre and the state government.

27th May : Transits of Trepidation Lunar aspects suggest a moment of trepidation. Maybe your fear is keeping you safe. Then again, maybe it's just a bad and breakable habit. A quick gut check you can use in the moment: "Is this fear telling me something specific I can act on, or just telling me to stop?" If it has instructions, listen. If it just says "don't," give it a nod and keep moving anyway.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There's a tedious bit of work to be done and a knotty problem to solve, but none of it seems so bad because you've a song in your heart and a very intriguing project or person to spend time with later.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
You've done hard things before so you know you can. You're not afraid to get in there and get it done if that's what's needed, but the assessment stage is key. You won't skip it.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
It's a day for dreaming. If you can build it in your head, you can, in time, make it real in your world. The more energy, creativity and specificity you put into the vision, the happier you'll be living it.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
There's a kind of pride that comes from being good for your word, and then there's another kind of pride -- puffed up and trying to look important to cover insecurity. Know the difference and you'll know who's trustworthy.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
When you can explain something in plain language, you really understand it. If you can't, that's something to refine. You'll love the satisfaction that comes with having deep and thorough knowledge on a topic and being able to prove that.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
It's good to get excited about what you want without worrying about the price tag right away. Life imposes limits. Why start imposing them in the imagination phase? Be free, think wildly and unreasonably.

Any change you make to yourself will also change the situation. So today, the point is not to find a better situation. That will naturally emerge from the better you you're bringing to it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
The silence doesn't need to be filled. It's not dead space, it's just space, vibrating with possibility. Leave room for potential and trust that others can see it, too. You'll be delighted by what strolls in on its own accord.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You're a master of diplomacy, which comes easily to you because you can see where people are coming from. Some have been misinformed and may be receptive to learning as you approach with deep respect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
It seems life's demands make it harder to develop the habits, disciplines, dynamics and interests you desire. Maybe so, but even one small change will lighten the whole load. Start small and take heart. This is doable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Some people lead with the question: "what's in it for me?" It doesn't benefit you to serve or entertain everyone from the get-go. Ease into learning people. It will save you from the work of dancing for an unappreciative audience.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
Those focused exclusively on self-benefit are a liability to your work, mood and wider social network. Today, pay attention to how you feel in someone's presence -- also in their absence. Which is more energizing?

Victim, a 66-yr-old woman with severe visual impairment, stayed at their house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A couple was arrested by RR Nagar police for stealing gold and cash worth about Rs 85 lakh kept in their house by the complainant, who was their close friend. The complainant, a 66-year-old woman with severe visual impairment, was staying at the accused couple's house and had kept the cash and gold inside a cupboard in a room and retained the key.

Police have managed to recover about 232gm of gold ornaments. The couple has been remanded in judicial custody.

The complainant, Padmaja Rao, is a resident of Banashankari 6th Stage. The accused are Sharmila Seshadri (50) and her husband R Ganesh Kumar (52), residents of BEML Layout 5th Stage in RR Nagar. Sharmila is an MBA graduate while her husband is a diploma holder, and they run a business together.

Padmaja filed a complaint on May 6 against the couple, stating that she had been staying at her friend Sharmila's residence for the past eight years. In June 2024, the complainant had removed gold ornaments kept in a bank locker in order to shift them to another bank locker. Along with the ornaments, she had also kept Rs 49.50lakh cash inside a cupboard in a room in Sharmila's house, and kept the key with herself.

Later, when the complainant intended to shift the valuables to another bank locker, she found the cupboard key was missing. She asked her friend to arrange for a locksmith to repair the lock and make another key, but when there was no response from them, the complainant herself called a locksmith and opened the cupboard. Upon checking, she found that the gold ornaments and cash kept inside were missing. When questioned, the complainant's friend and her husband admitted that they had used the cash due to financial requirements and had given the gold ornaments to a friend. They also stated that they would not return the cash and ornaments.

Based on the complaint, a house theft case was registered at RR Nagar Police Station.

During investigation, police secured the complainant's friend and her husband from their residence in BEML Layout on May 7. During interrogation, both accused confessed that they had taken the cash and gold ornaments due to financial needs for their business. During sustained interrogation, the accused revealed that the stolen cash had already been used for business and the gold ornaments had been handed over to a friend residing in Halasuru. Police recovered 232gm of gold ornaments from the friend. Investigations are on.

IN a swift operation, the Halasuru Gate police, assisted by the railway police in Andhra Pradesh, arrested nine workers of a gold and silver work company who had escaped with gold bars and ornaments, weighing 618 grams and worth around Rs 89 lakh. The accused told police that they resorted to stealing the precious metal as their employer was not paying salaries properly.

S Sandeep Mehta (44), a resident of Surveyor Road in Basavanagudi, owner of the company on NT Pet Main Road, filed the complaint on May 12. The police captured all nine workers on the next day near the Visakhapatnam railway station, en route to West Bengal in a train. All of them were employed for the past six months and escaped with the gold on the night of May 11.

The accused are S Sheikh Meraj Ul Islam (27), R Golam Nabi Malik (20), SK Mustaq ALi (22), N Ramzan Midya (21), SK Mehboob Rehman (19), SK Lalan (29), S Asik Ali (20), S Afeeq Mohammed (19), and B Biswajit Bounia (40), all natives of West Bengal.

"Pursued multiple angles and gathered credible information from informants, the nine workers were found travelling from Bengaluru to West Bengal via Visakhapatnam by train. With help from the railway police in Andhra Pradesh, all nine workers were intercepted near the railway station in Visakhapatnam, AP, along with the stolen gold bars and ornaments. The accused confessed during interrogation that they committed the theft as the employer was not paying salaries properly, and to make easy money," police said. All the accused are remanded in judicial custody.

Drug peddling case: HC junks bail plea of Nigerian

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka recently dismissed a petition seeking bail filed by Cristian Soporuchukwu (44), a Nigerian national, who came to India on a business visa and was arrested for selling drugs.

Justice V Srishananda dismissed the petition with an observation that non-furnishing of grounds of arrest, or improper compliance of furnishing the grounds of arrest would be a good ground for grant of bail in all offences, on the other hand, where the accused is alleged of possessing narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances (NDPS) would not be permitted to gain a back door entry in getting bail on the grounds of improper compliance of furnishing grounds of arrest, especially when he failed to make out a ground for grant of bail by resorting to Section 37 of the NDPS Act.

Cristian, came to India on a business visa. He visited Goa, Delhi and Mumbai and got acquainted with some drug peddlers. He purchased MDMA crystals and sold them to college students and IT-BT employees.

Beguru police booked him in April 2025 for selling MDMA crystals near the Begur Lake and AECS Layout Road.

Anti-narcotics wing seized about 1 kg of MDMA crystals, a pocket weighing machine, 10 zip lock covers, a mobile phone and a scooter from him.

The court also took note of the petitioner overstaying his visa.

Former minister and JDS leader S R Mahesh on Tuesday alleged that Congress leaders were "more corrupt" than JDS leaders and accused the state government of targeting Union Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel H D Kumaraswamy through politically motivated investigations

AND SHIVAKUMAR WINS THIS ROUND...

- Rahul offers Siddu RS seat, but latter tells him he has own limitations
- Venugopal insisted I step down, CM tells his ministers at George's house
- Surjewala, Venugopal in Bengaluru today to oversee smooth transition
- Rahul did not take Siddu's advice on his successor to be AHINDA man

Rahul okays change in leadership? DKS pays Siddu with same coin

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

WHENEVER the issue of a change in leadership came up in the past, Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah would claim he will step down only if Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi asks him to.

That ask came Tuesday, and as per sources, it was Rahul who told Siddaramaiah to step down. With this, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar seems to have paid Siddaramaiah with the same coin by convincing Rahul to take a decisive step on the leadership issue.

Even as Siddaramaiah desperately tried to cling on to power by ferrying his coterie of ministers to Delhi and also carrying a list of 93 MLAs, who he claimed were strongly supporting him, Shivakumar restrained from indulging in such machinations.

Shivakumar, despite it being his biggest political moment so far, dealt with it single-handedly, reposing faith in the high command that it would honour the power sharing agreement between him and Siddaramaiah in 2023 when the party came to power.

If sources within Congress are to be believed, Rahul's decision on Tuesday came as a shocker to Siddaramaiah and his camp members -- the ministers who were eagerly awaiting the outcome of the daylong deliberations held by the high command leaders, including Rahul, in New Delhi. They had kept their fingers crossed, hoping that Rahul would give Siddaramaiah the go-ahead to continue as chief minister by asking him to reshuffle the cabinet.

Later in the evening, Siddaramaiah huddled with his coterie of ministers at KJ George's residence and briefed them about what transpired between him and Rahul. Siddaramaiah played the AHINDA card, suggesting that the party needs a backward class mass leader ahead of the 2028 Assembly polls, but Rahul told him, "the party will take care of it".

Rahul did not even take Siddaramaiah's advice that his successor should be from the AHINDA group, especially a Dalit, like Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara. But Rahul promised Siddaramaiah that he would be taken into confidence while revamping the party and forming the cabinet.

Rahul also said Siddaramaiah might get exhausted campaigning during the 2028 Assembly elections and the party needs an overhaul. When Rahul offered him the Rajya Sabha seat, Siddaramaiah told him he has his own limitations to accept it.

Expressing his helplessness, Siddaramaiah told his camp that Shivakumar had convinced Rahul over the need for a change in leadership. "During the deliberations, even AICC General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal insisted that I step down," he told his men.

Siddaramaiah had taken ministers Parameshwara, MB Patil, Byrathi Suresh, Dr HC Mahadevappa, KJ George, his legal advisor and MLC A S Ponnanna with him. Interestingly, his Man Friday and PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi boarded a separate flight, while Housing Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan did not go at all.

There is speculation now whether Siddaramaiah knew about the outcome of his meeting with the high command. The leadership had given him an indication three months ago, when he created a record of being the longest-serving chief minister of Karnataka overtaking the previous landmark by former CM late D Devaraj Urs.

Sources said the high command may consider Satish for the KPCC president's post if Shivakumar is made chief minister. Siddaramaiah's MLC-son Dr Yathindra could be considered for a cabinet berth or even a DCM post, they added. The high command will chalk out a strategy with a new equation by accommodating leaders in the cabinet and could even consider RDPR and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge, son of AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge, for DCM post, sources said.

Sources said Venugopal had spoken to Priyank, MB Patil and Zameer on Sunday and hinted at a change in guard in the government. Both Venugopal and Randeep Singh Surjewala are arriving in Bengaluru on Wednesday to initiate the power transition, they added.

Siddu likely to resign on Thursday

Siddaramaiah is likely to resign as CM on Thursday, sources said. He is also likely to have a breakfast meeting with his cabinet colleagues on Thursday. After which, he is likely to meet Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot in the afternoon and tender his resignation. Meanwhile, the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) will likely elect its new leader on Friday, sources added. Meanwhile, Congress general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal had dialled ministers Priyank Kharge, MB Patil and BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan last Sunday and hinted at leadership change, party insiders told TNIE.

No decision on KPCC chief's post yet: Jarkiholi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

WITH intense political developments in Delhi on Tuesday, Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi said the ongoing confusion over the state leadership may be resolved Tuesday or could take a couple of days.

Satish, who is in New Delhi, said speculation and uncertainty over the leadership issue had persisted for the last six months and there was growing expectation among party workers for clarity on the matter.

"The issue may be resolved today (Tuesday) or discussions may continue tomorrow or the day after. But it is true that the matter needs to be settled," he said.

Jarkiholi said he did not receive any separate invitation from the party leadership, but had travelled to Delhi along with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah.

On the possibility of changes in the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC), Jarkiholi said no discussion had yet taken place regarding the post of KPCC president. However, he indicated willingness to consider any responsibility assigned by the party leadership.

"If the party leaders ask me to take up any responsibility, I will consider it and convey my opinion to the high command," he said.

He stated that once the leadership issue is resolved, other pending political uncertainties, including the question of KPCC president's post, are also likely to be cleared.

Siddu to meet his loyalist MLAs today

PREETHA NAIR, BALA CHAUHAN, NAUSHAD BIJAPUR & DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @New Delhi/Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has decided to meet MLAs, who support him, at Energy Minister KJ George's residence in Bengaluru on Wednesday, sources said.

Tuesday saw a series of meetings attended by Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge, AICC General Secretary KC Venugopal and AICC general secretary in charge of Karnataka Randeep Singh Surjewala.

Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar were consulted separately at the party headquarters. Following the discussions, Rahul and Venugopal are said to have briefed senior leader Sonia Gandhi on the meetings, before holding a closed-door meeting with Siddaramaiah. There Rahul offered Siddaramaiah a larger role at the national level, asking him to step down as CM.

But as leaders emerged from the meeting, Venugopal dismissed the talks on change in leadership as mere speculation. "Whatever speculation you people (media) were doing was only speculation. There is no reality at all," he said, stressing that the polls to Rajya Sabha and MLC seats were discussed. "Today, the entire discussion was concentrated only on the upcoming Rajya Sabha and Legislative Council elections of Karnataka," he said, even as he was flanked by Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar.

Venugopal said candidates for the Rajya Sabha and Council seats in Karnataka will be announced along with those for Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan. "This is what we decided today, and nothing else was discussed," he asserted.

Asked if there was any discussion on leadership change, Siddaramaiah replied with an emphatic "No", adding, "It (leadership change) is only speculation."

On a possible cabinet reshuffle, he said, "It did not come up for discussion." Of the four Rajya Sabha seats getting vacant in Karnataka, Congress can win three and BJP one. Kharge's Rajya Sabha seat is getting vacant in June, and he is likely to be re-elected from Karnataka.

The party may also field Shivakumar's brother DK Suresh as one of the Rajya Sabha candidates, as well as a woman or an OBC nominee.

Besides, Congress leaders are also learnt to have discussed the party candidates for the Council seats. Congress is likely to secure four seats in the council from the seven vacancies, based on its present strength in the Assembly.

The Siddaramaiah camp was scheduled to board the special flight back to Bengaluru late on Tuesday evening.

IF NOT SHIVAKUMAR, WHO?

Sources close to the unfolding political events, said the party high command is likely to look at a complete makeover of the party in the state.

"The Congress high command could go in for a complete makeover of the party in the state and appoint a young, dynamic leader with a clean image, who would lead the party in the 2028 assembly elections. The name of Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda is on the top, besides Minister for Large & Medium Industries and Infrastructure Development MB Patil. Both these leaders have a clean image and are known for their work and commitment to the party," said sources, who did not wish to be named.

On AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge being considered for the post as parting gift to the veteran Congress loyalist, his age is a major concern given that the Assembly has only two years left.

"The name of Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, too, has been put forth but giving him the top seat while denying Kharge - the tallest Dalit leader in the country - may not go well for Congress," the sources added.

Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi on the leadership crisis

I always knew DKS would become CM, says astrologer

BENGALURU: With Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar emerging as the front runner to the Chief Minister's post, his mentor, astrologer and spiritual guru - Rajguru Bellur Sankaranarayanan Dwarakanath, popularly called Guruji said he always knew that his "boy will sit on the throne of Karnataka one day". Dwarkanath told TNIE from Sringeri, "It is a red letter day for me. Four-five days back I had sent him (Shivakumar) prasadam from the Dattatreya temple in Ganagapur. That was an indication to him that there is good news coming his way. I had told him 35 years ago, when he had met me as a young boy, that he would become the chief minister of Karnataka." "I have advised him to work hard, make people work hard and give his best to the state in the next two years. He has a huge responsibility on his head. God has given him a chance and he will deliver. I am confident," said Dwarkanath.

Cauvery bodies ask Karnataka, TN to pare paddy sowing area

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

AMID forecasts of a weaker monsoon this year, the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) and Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) on Tuesday asked Karnataka and Tamil Nadu to exercise caution while allocating areas for sowing paddy, a water-intensive crop.

"Last year, we had a bountiful monsoon and the sharing of water was carried out according to established rules, but the upcoming water year (June 2026 to May 2027) is going to be a challenge as the India Meteorological Department has predicted a weaker monsoon," said CWRC chairman Vineet Gupta after a meeting with officials from the two states.

CWRC and CWMA were set up by the Centre to oversee the sharing and regulation of Cauvery river water among the basin states. Cauvery river originates from Karnataka's Western Ghats and flows eastward into Tamil Nadu. The two states are locked in a long-standing dispute over allocation of waters.

The next water year could be challenging as water levels in major reservoirs are at record lows. Mettur Dam in TN currently has 40 tmcft, down from around 80 tmcft in May 2025. Karnataka's KRS Dam has 8 tmcft, down from 21 tmcft.

K'taka to submit revised Mekedatu DPR to Centre: DKS

The Karnataka government will go ahead with the process of submitting the revised Detailed Project Report (DPR) on construction of Mekedatu reservoir to the Union Government, Deputy CM DK Shivakumar, who also holds the water resources portfolio, said.

Shivakumar hailed the decision of Supreme Court to dismiss the review petition filed by Tamil Nadu against the Mekedatu project. "The Supreme Court's three-member bench has dismissed the review petition filed by Tamil Nadu regarding the Mekedatu project. This is good news for Karnataka. On behalf of the people of Karnataka, we express our gratitude to the Supreme Court," he said.

He said that the court had already given clear instructions in its earlier order, imposing a condition that Tamil Nadu's share of 177 tmcft of water must be released. "Now, it is for the Union Government to take the final decision," he said.

'Power more important than devept for CM, DCM'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hassan

LEADER of the Opposition in the Assembly, R Ashoka, said that Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar were giving importance to power and had completely failed to maintain fiscal discipline in the state.

Ashoka said that the state's total debt stands at Rs 8.5 lakh crore, which has been the highest, and the exchequer is empty. There is no money to pay government employees' salaries or implement social security schemes, Ashoka said.

"BJP is not against freebies. But the State Government has completely neglected development works as maximum funds are being diverted towards guarantees," he said, adding that the state's total debt may cross Rs 10 lakh crore before the term of the government ends. Condemning the State Government's decision to replace BPL cards of the poor families with APL cards, Ashoka said that both CM Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar are busy with the leadership issue.

"People are frustrated with the policies of the government. The administration has collapsed as no official discharges his or her duty honestly and effectively," he added.

Coming down heavily on CM Siddaramaiah for allegedly luring Minorities, Ashoka said that the congress leaders should stop wooing Minorities and instead should give importance to development. Ashoka said that the Congress was blaming the Union Government only to divert the public's attention, who are frustrated with the "worst policies of the State Government". On the Rajya Sabha and Council polls, Ashoka said that the BJP high command will take a call on the candidates. Ashoka also said that the State Government has insulted him by not providing him with official accommodation. "No Government quarters will be allotted for the Opposition leader from Congress, if the BJP comes to power in 2028," he declared. He also said that the state BJP unit will take out Bhatkal Chalo on May 29 to condemn the communal clashes over the construction of a structure which was demolished by local authorities.

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) has notified biennial elections to the Karnataka Legislative Council by Members of the Legislative Assembly (MLAs) to fill vacancies arising due to the retirement of members whose term ends on June 30.

The term of MLCs Govinda Raju, Naseer Ahmed, N Nagaraju (MTB), Prathap Simha Nayak K, Tippannappa, Sunil Vallyapur and BK Hariprasad ends on June 30.

The biennial election process will enable MLAs to elect new members to the Upper House of the Karnataka legislature to fill the outgoing vacancies. The polls will be a game changer as the Congress will get an upper hand in the Council, and help the government pass many bills which would have collapsed in the Upper House as they did not have a majority.

The election schedule has been announced, and the notification will be issued on June 1. The last date for filing nominations is June 8, scrutiny of nominations will be on June 9 and candidates can withdraw nominations until June 11. Polling will take place on June 18, from 9am to 4pm, and counting of votes will commence at 5pm the same day. The entire election process is scheduled to be completed by June 20.

IN a major development in the multi-crore Shivam Associates fraud case, Criminal Investigation Department (CID) officials on Monday night brought Shivam Associates chief Shivananad Neelannavar, who is accused of orchestrating a ₹4,500 crore scam, from Bengaluru to Belagavi for further interrogation. Neelannavar is currently being questioned at the Malmaruti police station. With the 10-day CID custody granted by the court set to end on May 27, the officials are likely to produce him before the court at any moment. Since the court will remain closed on Tuesday, the CID was reportedly making preparations to present him before the judge on Monday itself.

Meanwhile, the CID has also intensified its probe by issuing notices to Neelannavar's wife, actor R Abhilash and business associate Subhash in connection with the case.

Following the summons, all three appeared before CID officers at the Malmaruti police station on Tuesday, where investigators are said to be collecting crucial information related to the alleged financial fraud. Sources said the CID has also initiated steps to seize several luxury vehicles allegedly purchased using investors' money. The list reportedly includes high-end vehicles such as the Land Rover Defender, Mercedes Benz and Toyota Vellfire worth crores of rupees. The CID investigation into the massive fraud case has now reached a crucial stage, with investors and the public closely watching further developments.

Prioritise refunds for ex-servicemen: Assn

The alleged Rs 4,500 crore fraud involving Shivam Associates and its promoter Shivana-nd Neelannavar has taken a serious turn, with the district unit of the Ex-Servicemen's Federation urging authorities to prioritise refunds for retired defence personnel who inves-ted in the firm. Federation district president Jagadish Pujeri said several former servi-cemen had invested their life-time savings in Shivam Assoc-iates with trust and good inte-ntions, hoping to secure their families' future after retirement. "The retired soldiers invested their hard-earned money in the company with confidence and faith. The government and investigating agencies must ensure that their money is returned at the earliest," he said. Federation leaders stated that while the ongoing probe would reveal who invested, where the money was placed, and the purpose behind the investments, ex-servicemen should be given a refund process considering their situation. They said that soldiers who had risked their lives serving the nation at the borders should not suffer financial injustice after retirement. ENS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS many as 6,300 students from across India took part in an intuition fest conducted at the Art of Living International Centre, Kanakapura Road, on Tuesday.

The highlight of the festival included achievers sharing their talents through intuition as well as a demonstration by two teenagers well-versed in the skill. The demonstration included blindfolded demonstrators who were asked to guess the clothing of children who were randomly picked.

Speaking to TNIE, one of the demonstrators, Nitya, an intuition process practitioner who has been part of the Art of Living for 10 years, stated that the practice has helped her cultivate a photographic memory that aided her to visualise her notes while writing exams. Practising the intuition process for 25 minutes, twice a day, has helped her become more confident of public speaking. The process negates distractions of all kinds, including technological, and can help students use technology mindfully. It's a process that blends ancient techniques with the modern, she added.

Arvindh Raghavendran, a senior faculty member, who has been with AOL for more than 30 years, emphasised on helping children with improving the in-built consciousness that negates the fear of the unknown. Though precise techniques couldn't be disclosed, he noted that children inculcate the power of intuition through interactive games, yogasanas and meditation to improve the ability of confidently process their thought.

City doctors perform first TAVI for aortic valve leakage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DOCTORS at Narayana Health City have performed India's first Transcatheter Aortic Valve Implantation (TAVI) procedure for pure aortic valve leakage using the specialised Hanchor valve technology, a device designed specifically for severe aortic regurgitation. While TAVI procedures have been performed in India earlier for narrowed heart valves, this is the first time the Hanchor system has been used in the country for patients with pure valve leakage, the hospital said.

The minimally invasive procedure was carried out on two male patients aged 80 and 69, both considered high risk for open-heart surgery due to age and associated medical conditions. Doctors performed the procedure through the femoral artery in the thigh without opening the chest, completing it within 45 to 60 minutes. Both patients were discharged within 48 hours.

Doctors said treating pure aortic regurgitation through catheter-based procedures has traditionally been difficult because the condition lacks calcium deposits needed to hold conventional valves in place. The Hanchor device was developed specifically to address this challenge.

Since the device is not commercially available in India, the hospital obtained special case-by-case government approval to import and use it, as the procedure is still considered experimental in the Indian context. The procedure was led by Dr Suraj Narasimhan.

STUDENTS of Manipal Institute of Technology Bengaluru are set to represent India at the RoboSub 2026, an international autonomous underwater robotics competition scheduled to be held from July 11 to 16 in Irvine, California. MIT Bengaluru is among two Indian institutions participating this year, alongside IIT Bombay.

Organised by RoboNation in collaboration with the United States Office of Naval Research, the competition will see nearly 60 teams from universities across the world compete by showcasing advanced Autonomous Underwater Vehicles (AUVs) capable of performing complex underwater tasks.

The student-led project at MIT Bengaluru began in 2024 and involves an interdisciplinary team from computer science, electronics and information technology. Over the past one-and-a-half years, the students designed and developed a fully functional AUV integrating autonomy software, computer vision, embedded systems, and mechanical engineering. The vehicle is capable of underwater navigation, object detection, manipulation and autonomous decision-making, with applications in ocean exploration, defence and offshore industries.

The team has been divided into four specialised subsystems covering mechanical design, electrical systems, software and automation, and management and design. Apart from building the AUV, the students also developed technologies such as SONAR systems, hydrophones and integrated electrical and software architectures. Dr Madhu Veeraraghavan, Pro Vice-Chancellor of MAHE Bengaluru, said the achievement reflects the institution's focus on interdisciplinary learning and innovation-driven research. Dr Iven Jose, Director of MIT Bengaluru, said participation in competitions like RoboSub exposes students to high-performance engineering environments and global standards of innovation.

Power staff unions want consumers to oppose move

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BASAVANNA C, general secretary, Federation of Karnataka Electricity Board Employees' Union and Associations, on Tuesday said they have launched a 30-day drive, asking consumers to join them and oppose the entry of private firms in the energy sector.

This comes a day after Tata Power Company Ltd announced that it was applying to the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) for distribution licence in select jurisdictions of Bescom, Mescom, Hescom and CESC.

Basavanna said they would ask consumers to file objections before the KERC. The union will also appeal to KERC and the state government to reject the proposal. While Eescoms and KPTCL work on no profit-no loss method, private firms only think of profit, he said.

The government is offering many subsidy schemes for farmers and economically backward sections, which are not considered by private players. They demand money for any service provided, which is not good for consumers, he said.

He said the tariff for consumers will also increase. Citing the example of Maharashtra, he said industrial tariff is around Rs 14 per unit, while in Karnataka it is Rs 8 per unit. There is regulation by KERC in Karnataka, but after the entry of private players, control will be limited.

There are 55,000 employees working in various agencies of the energy department, who are members of the union.

EVs PUSH POWER DEMAND UP 2% IN PAST 2 MONTHS

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IN the months of April and May, electricity supply companies have recorded a 2 per cent rise in power consumption by electric vehicles. While they noted that this is not for new vehicles, they also said there has been a rise in bookings for EVs, with increasing awareness on green mobility, and the global oil crisis.

However, this has also increased the demand for installation of fast-charging EV stations along highways and prominent public points. To address this, the energy department is working to enter into partnerships and agreements with private firms to install solar enabled fast-charging EV stations. This is apart from the partnership with State and National Highways and the Karnataka Renewable Energy Development Limited (KREDL).

A senior Escom official listed four types of EV consumers – residential, industrial, commercial and LT(6-C) – who fall under different power tariff slabs. But the demand in all sectors has been on the rise in the past two months.

"We are looking to install a second used battery solar-enabled EV charging unit near the airport. This is will be on the same lines as the first one of 45-50 KW capacity. But the charging units will be improved. This is because new vehicles have batteries of 30-90 KWH and need DC charging. Consumers also want charging units to be designed in such a way that vehicles are charged fully within 30 minutes. For this, we need large solar panel spaces and they need more area," the official said.

In the meantime, to keep a tab on rising demand, the State Load Dispatch Centre (SLDC), monitoring electricity input and output on the grid on real-time basis, has once again stressed on its year-long demand for dividing meters for EV consumers in all four categories, particularly residential and commercial.

An SLDC official explained that this is because the exact power consumed for EVs is not known at present. "It is only an estimation. Consumers presently draw electricity from their residential meters for charging and are billed. But if the meter reading is taken separately, then the exact amount of power used and rise in demand can be calculated for better policy formation and administration. Separate monitoring is the need of the hour to channelise EV growth," the SLDC official said.

According to data from the energy department, there is one solar-enabled EV charging station in the state near Kempegowda International Airport. There are 209 EV charging stations and 471 EV charging points offered by Bescom. In all, there are 8000 EV charging stations in Karnataka, including those from Escoms and private firms, 50 per cent of which are in and around Bengaluru.

Emotions run high over shifting of Hampi elephant Lakshmi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hampi

TENSION prevailed in Hampi on Tuesday after the Forest Department initiated steps to shift Lakshmi, the 36-year-old elephant attached to the famed Virupaksha Temple, triggered emotional protests from residents, devotees and guides.

A crowd gathered on the temple premises and strongly opposed the move, claiming the elephant has become an inseparable part of Hampi's cultural and spiritual identity over the years. Protesters said the elephant should not be taken away from the heritage town under any circumstances.

Sources in the Forest Department said the decision to shift Lakshmi was taken considering the elephant's advancing age, recurring injuries and health-related complications. Officials reportedly planned to move the animal to the elephant rehabilitation and treatment facility in Kolar district for specialised medical care and monitoring.

Residents protest the shifting of temple elephant Lakshmi in Hampi on Tuesday

Lakshmi's mahout Rajanna, who broke down before officials and pleaded with them not to separate the elephant from Hampi. Virupakshi V Hampi, secretary of the State Tourist Guides Association, said the people of Hampi have traditionally cared for elephants since the days of the Vijayanagara Empire, once regarded among the richest in the world. He said the historic stables in Hampi stand testimony to the kingdom's deep connection with elephants.

"Lakshmi has welcomed thousands of visitors, dignitaries and devotees over the years. If treatment is necessary, it should be provided in Hampi itself using modern veterinary facilities," he said.

As protests intensified, Vijayanagara Deputy Commissioner (DC) Kavitha S Mannikeri held discussions with local residents, temple authorities and protestors to calm the situation. Following her assurance that Lakshmi would be brought back to Hampi after completion of treatment, residents eventually agreed to allow officials to shift the elephant to Kolar district.

BC panel calls for meet to submit survey report

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Backward Classes Commission has convened an urgent meeting at 11am Wednesday, with the primary agenda of submitting the report on the social, educational and economic survey conducted last year, directly to the state government.

The move has sparked criticism and raised serious questions about the commission's intentions and adherence to judicial directives. Critics argue that despite a clear order from the Karnataka High Court, the commission appears intent on submitting the report to the government before placing it before court, creating suspicion around the entire exercise.

In a strongly worded statement, All India Veerashaiva Lingayat Mahasabha secretary HM Renuka Prasanna expressed deep concern over the commission's decision. "How the commission plans to submit the survey report to the government remains a big question. Though there is a clear directive from the high court, the mystery behind submitting the report to the government before submitting it to court is unknown," the statement read. Prasanna further alleged that the commission's action is casting doubt on the credibility of the report itself.

"The commission's move is creating suspicion over the report. We strongly oppose it. The commission's action will be challenged in the Karnataka High Court," the statement added. The controversy centres on the proper procedure for presenting such a significant survey, which is expected to influence policies on reservations and welfare measures for backward classes in the state. Many observers believe that bypassing or preempting the high court's oversight could undermine the transparency and judicial sanctity of the process.

This development comes at a time when the findings of the backward classes survey are anticipated to have far-reaching political and administrative implications.

Elephant calf found dead in Sullia, attack by adults feared

The carcass of a one-year-old elephant calf in Aranthodu village of Sullia taluk on Tuesday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

A one-year-old elephant calf was found dead at Bedrupane in Aranthodu village in Sullia taluk. The carcass was found in the plantation of one Gopalakrishna on Sunday. Forest officials, upon receiving the information, visited the spot and conducted an autopsy. Sullia Range Forest Officer N Manjunath said the female elephant calf is suspected to have been attacked by adult elephants when the herd strayed into a plantation in the village.

According to the locals, an elephant herd had strayed into arecanut plantations on Sunday night and the elephant squad and locals had driven them away to the forest. However, the herd was seen in the plantation areas once again on Monday morning and during that time the calf is suspected to have been attacked.

Forest officials said there were injuries on the body of the elephant calf. The carcass was buried after an autopsy by the forest officials. Locals allege that elephants have been straying and damaging their plantations in Aranthodu, Sampaje, Kalmakaru, Ivarnadu villages that are close to the forest areas and have demanded permanent solution to elephant menace.

Carcass of tusker found floating in water body

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhagwathi (Uttara Kannada)

A tusker was found dead near Samrani village in Bhagvathi range in Haliyal forest division under mysterious circumstances. The Forest Department suspects that the jumbo died of drowning.

Forest Department staff on duty found the large tusker's carcass floating on a water body on Monday evening and alerted senior officials who rushed to the spot. An autopsy was conducted in their presence.

The elephant was found in shallow waters of Bommanahalli backwaters and is said to have died on Sunday, but it came to light on Monday evening.

The doctors who conducted the postmortem also suspect that the death was due to drowning. "Even if we suspect any mischief, there is not a single injury on the elephant's carcass. Even the tusks are intact," Prashanth Kumar, DCF, Haliyal told TNIE.

Ranveer prays to Chamundeshwari, seeks forgiveness

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

ABIDING by an order by the High Court of Karnataka, Bollywood actor Ranveer Singh on Tuesday paid a quiet visit to the Chamundeshwari Temple atop Chamundi Hills in Mysuru on Tuesday morning and prayed to the deity for forgiveness. The move comes amid an ongoing controversy linked to his remarks about the Daiva tradition portrayed in the film Kantara.

The actor, wearing a mask, arrived at the temple around 7.30 am without prior intimation to temple authorities and tried to keep it a low profile visit. Temple officials said he entered the shrine before devotees began to arrive and introduced himself to the temple priests.

According to temple officials, the actor told the priests that he came to offer his apologies to Goddess Chamundeshwari. He was then escorted to the sanctum sanctorum, where he performed special prayers before leaving the temple shortly afterwards.

Singh's visit comes days after he submitted a written apology before the Karnataka High Court in connection with his alleged remarks during an awards event in Goa. The controversy erupted after the actor was accused of imitating a Daiva performer and allegedly referring to the sacred spiritual tradition as "devil" while speaking about the film. Following a complaint filed by a lawyer claiming that religious sentiments have been hurt, police registered an FIR against the actor.

Another setback for AIADMK as 1 more MLA quits

Speaker accepts resignation; Subaya joins TVK; total vacancies in House rises to five

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

AMBASAMUDRAM MLA Esakki Subaya, considered a key AIADMK figure in south Tamil Nadu, resigned as legislator and joined the ruling TVK on Tuesday, taking the number of rebel MLAs who quit their posts and joined the ruling party in the last two days to four. Speaker JCD Prabhakar accepted his resignation.

The steady stream of resignations has triggered horse-trading allegations from opposition parties DMK and AIADMK while deeply unsettling the ruling alliance. Coalition partners Congress and VCK on Tuesday condemned the developments as "unhealthy politics", and the Left parties, which support the Vijay government from the outside, have also expressed strong dissatisfaction. TVK leader and Revenue Minister KA Sengottaiyan, however, firmly dismissed the accusations.

Responding to the developments, CPI (M) State Secretary P Shanmugam said that though the MLAs had resigned and joined TVK of their volition, "We are unable to see it as a move without anticipating anything in return." VCK founder Thol Thirumavalavan said, "It is our desire that the TVK leadership doesn't give room to criticism over the issue."

Congress MP Jothimani also lashed out at "horse-trading" in the state and said the party cannot adopt different standards for TN and other states. She said the steps taken by the TVK should be aimed at strengthening democracy and not weakening it, and it will be the Congress party's moral responsibility to air any divergent views in such situations.

With the latest resignation, the total number of vacancies in the 17th Assembly has now risen to five, reducing the House strength to 229 and the simple majority mark to 115 from 118. Of the remaining 43 AIADMK MLAs, 28 are aligned with party general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami and 15 with the rival faction led by CVe Shanmugam and S P Velumani. Legal experts say all 25 MLAs in the Shanmugam faction may face possible disqualification for backing the TVK government in the confidence vote. Ahead of Subaya's meeting with the speaker, AIADMK leaders of the EPS faction led by whip SS Krishnamurthy submitted a representation opposing the acceptance of the three resignations on Monday, calling the move hasty and against Assembly rules, given that disqualification petitions against the same MLAs remained pending. MP IS Inbadurai said the Speaker's action went against past court verdicts on the matter. The speaker, however, said he would go by the Assembly rule book in taking decisions.

Kerala CM seeks Centre's backing for state projects

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

IN his first meeting with the Prime Minister and the Union Finance Minister after assuming office, KeralaChief Minister VD Satheesan on Tuesday sought the Centre's support in implementing the state's key development projects.

Both Narendra Modi and Nirmala Sitharaman responded positively, Satheesan told reporters after the meetings in New Delhi. Satheesan said he briefed Modi and Sitharaman on the state's key challenges and priorities. The state will next submit detailed proposals to the respective Union ministries. The government will also pursue all funds legitimately due from the Centre, he said. On the issue of open market borrowing, the chief minister said he informed the PM and the FM that Kerala's ceiling stands at 3.5% of GSDP of which 0.5% is tied with power sector reforms. The liabilities arising from the borrowings by KIIFB and the Kerala Social Security Pension Limited further shrink the state's already limited fiscal space. Satheesan appealed for additional borrowing space of Rs 5,880 crore to offset the borrowing undertaken by the state for land acquisition for National Highway development.

PM Narendra Modi at a meeting with Kerala Chief Minister VD Satheesan, in New Delhi on Tuesday | PTI

He said the white paper on the state's finances will be released in the first week of June, following which detailed information will be shared with the Centre. The government will also step up efforts to secure pending funds from various Union departments. It will examine whether delays were caused by the non-submission of utilisation certificates or audited accounts, and clear all such backlogs before the state budget is presented, he said.

On SilverLine, Satheesan said both the Union and state governments had effectively abandoned the project before his government assumed office.

Six asphyxiated in septic tank in Odisha, 1 critical

ENS @ Bhawanipatna

SIX persons, including a father and son, died of suffocation after entering an under-construction septic tank at Gauda Karlakhunta village under M Rampur police limits in Kalahandi district on Tuesday. Another person was critically injured in the incident.

The mishap occurred when the centring of the septic tank was being removed after completion of masonry work. The tank, measuring around 8 ft by 8 ft with a depth of 10 ft, was being constructed at the house of Nimai Pal (48). The deceased are Nimai and his son Akash Pal (28); Adal Majhi (55) and Manoranjan Hati (27) of Matoganda village, and masons Chhanda Jal (32) and Bipul Jal (30), both residents of Duta village. A worker first entered the tank during the work. He was trapped inside and collapsed. In an attempt to rescue him, Nimai and Akas along with four other workers entered the tank one after another.

All of them were asphyxiated inside the tank. Another worker Pankaj Yani was rescued by villagers. Accumulation of toxic fumes inside the tank seem to have caused the suffocation and fatalities.

Strategist Sunil Kanugolu likely to join Revanth's core team

IREDDY SRINIVAS REDDY @ Hyderabad

WITH the Congress government set to complete half of its five-year term in Telangana and groupism continuing within the party, Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy has reportedly decided to appoint a key member to his core team to strengthen coordination among ministers, MLAs, MLCs, MPs and party leaders.

According to sources in ministerial circles and among MLAs, political strategist Sunil Kanugolu is likely to be inducted into the CM's core team. Sources said preparations are underway for his appointment as public affairs adviser to the chief minister or another key position to act as a bridge between ministers and Congress leaders. The sources said that orders regarding his appointment may be issued in the first week of June or after the Rajya Sabha elections for four vacant seats in Karnataka. The post was earlier held by Vem Narender Reddy, who has since been elected to the Rajya Sabha. At present, Kanugolu is serving as an adviser to Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. Congress leaders said that during the 2023 Assembly elections, Kanugolu played a key role in bringing the party to power through behind-the-scenes political strategies and social media outreach. He also worked as a political strategist for the Congress in Karnataka.

Sources said Kanugolu has extensive knowledge of Telangana politics and is likely to play a key role in the upcoming elections to the municipal corporations of Hyderabad. Party leaders believe these elections will influence the next Assembly polls.

NEXT STEPS IN WARMING INDIA-U.S. TIES DEPEND ON INKING OF TRADE DEAL

A strategic bilateral agreement on critical minerals and supply chains came at the business end of US Secretary of State Marco Rubio's four-day visit to India amid an air of positivity. More "real, concrete achievables" were revealed at the Quad meeting of foreign ministers of India, the US, Japan and Australia in Delhi, which included the group's Critical Minerals Initiative. The decisions included an Indo-Pacific Maritime Surveillance Corporation, designed to leverage each member country's surveillance capabilities to enhance information sharing, a joint port infrastructure project to address insufficient port capacity in the Pacific Islands, and measures to safeguard regional energy security. The initiatives infused new life into the grouping that was adrift ever since US President Donald Trump returned to power last year. But it remains to be seen how they would square off with Trump's softening of posture against China with a G2 framework.

The underlying message of Rubio's visit was continuity and momentum in the strategic partnership with India despite some strain in trade negotiations. While India flagged adverse American visa policies and concerns over dwindling fuel, fertilisers and foreign exchange reserves because of the US-Iran conflict, Rubio did some heavy lifting, defending Trump's aggressive global trade recalibration with the assertion that it was not directed specifically at India. A similar line of defence came on restricting legitimate human mobility, including the latest fiat to green card aspirants to file their applications from home countries. Trump's surprise live video appearance at an event in Delhi on Saturday—calling himself Prime Minister Narendra Modi's big fan and adding, "India can count on me 100 percent"—injected a measure of drama. He also sent a personal invite to Modi through Rubio to visit the White House at an early date. But that can happen only after an equitable trade agreement is clinched.

On the West Asia front, fresh hopes germinated for a resolution of the US-Iran conflict, but both sides tamped down expectations. The American military later hit Iranian missile sites and boats, drawing robust retaliation. Trump also threw a curve ball at the Gulf nations and Pakistan, tying their normalisation of ties with Israel to the Iran peace deal, injecting further uncertainty. Much like Russian President Vladimir Putin in Ukraine, Trump entered a conflict he can neither win nor easily exit. Global economies can seethe, but do little else.

USE UPPER GANGA PLAN FOR ENTIRE HIMALAYAN REGION

THE Union government's affidavit before the Supreme Court on hydropower projects in Uttarakhand's upper Ganga basin is significant for more reasons than one. It is a clear acknowledgement that ecological vulnerability can no longer be a secondary consideration during infrastructure planning in the fragile Himalayan region. While drawing the line at seven power projects that are fully commissioned or in advanced stages of construction, the joint affidavit from the jal shakti, environment and power ministries made it clear that no new project would be green-lighted in the Alaknanda and Bhagirathi basins.

The court case followed the catastrophic Kedarnath floods of 2013. Of the 28 projects that came under the scanner, only seven were approved. For the rest, the top court constituted a high-power committee to review the recommendations of an expert body. It endorsed five projects out of the 21, but the jal shakti ministry felt these too would profoundly affect the river system that feeds the Ganga. Eventually, only the seven projects approved earlier were recommended as the three ministries felt critical geological and disaster-related parameters had been ignored by the expert panel and the review committee.

The key question is whether such a consideration can become a broader principle for the entire Himalayan region. There is compelling evidence to say it should. The affidavit invokes the sui generis character of the Upper Ganga basin for its cautious view. This holds for the entire arc of the geologically-young and tectonically-unstable Himalayas stretching from Himachal Pradesh to Arunachal Pradesh. The Sikkim flash floods in 2023 and Tapovan Vishnugad glacier burst in 2021 exposed the vulnerability of hydropower infrastructure in the region. In many cases, dam construction itself aggravated geological instability and river fragmentation, exposing the lower riparian states to existential crises of life and livelihood.

The Brahmaputra master plan to generate 65 gigwatts of hydropower must also be viewed in this context. We must remember that not all renewable power projects are green. Given this, a new national framework must be chalked out with the Uttarakhand affidavit as a starting point.

QUICK TAKE

TANGLED WIRES

IMAGINE being stuck in a wobbly cage hundreds of feet above ground for hours, with no idea when rescue might arrive. In India, such panic has been experienced not only by the 320-odd tourists who were stuck in cable cars at Kashmir's Gulmarg on Monday—it's a worryingly regular occurrence across the country. Ropeway troubles have been reported from Himachal Pradesh's Parwanoo in 2021, Uttarakhand's Nainital in 2023 and Gujarat's Pavagadh in 2025. It's clear what the state authorities have to do: regularly inspect the rides for upkeep and ensure help can arrive quickly in case of a snag. Beyond this, we must learn management lessons from the world's highest and longest cable car system in Bolivia's La Paz, which transports at least 200,000 commuters every day.

While the world's eyes are peeled on Iran, the Russia-Ukraine conflict is entering a critical new phase. The proxy war is in danger of turning into a direct confrontation between Nato and Russia

HAWKS PREPARE GROUND FOR A CRUEL SUMMER IN KYIV

M K BHADRAKUMAR Former diplomat

SOURAV ROY

THE revamped western narrative of the Ukraine war is that the Russian military juggernaut is being brought to a halt. It parodies that the war has lasted longer than the Great Patriotic War against Nazi Germany. The summer months will show what lies in the womb of time.

The western commentators attribute this 'reversal of fortunes' to the fast-improving Ukrainian drone capabilities. Ukraine strikes oil infrastructure and military targets deep inside Russia while its AI drone hunters scatter enemy soldiers who slip past infantry positions along the 950-km frontline, honing new counterattacking tactics that combine drone and infantry, and creates grey zones that neither army fully controls.

The Kremlin cannot take it anymore. It played the Oreshnik card finally on Sunday night and is contemplating a full-court display of Russian military prowess through the summer months after waiting in vain like the tramps in Samuel Beckett's play, Waiting for Godot, for two businessmen to arrive from Washington once they're done with the Iran issue.

Ukraine has gained an advantage in drone-led grey-zone warfare—superior in numbers, software and satellite intelligence—which significantly impacts the military balance. Russian advances are the slowest so far this year. One sign that the war has entered a new phase is that President Vladimir Putin signalled he would be ready to meet directly with Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy. Suffice it to say that the Kremlin has been eager to settle the war, but multiple factors have posed obstacles.

Principally, Zelenskyy is more fixated than ever, nudged no doubt by the Europeans, on his conviction that the war is on a razor's edge and Russia can be defeated. Arguably, even if Washington were to twist Zelenskyy's arms, he would choose to sit out the Trump presidency, as indeed what the Europeans are doing. Ukraine has been publicly sour on US mediation, which sets up Kyiv and Moscow for an even more protracted war.

The EU plans to give €90 billion to Kyiv to keep its head above the waterline. Flushed with funds, Zelenskyy may lose all appetite for negotiations. The Russians, realising the futility of pressuring him, are switching tack. The "spirit of Anchorage", generated by the high-stakes meeting between the US President Donald Trump and Putin in Alaska last August, has evaporated. Meanwhile, the facts on the ground are that the Trump administration has decreased the volume of aid it gives to Ukraine but still sells weapons via Nato, and provides Kyiv with satellite intelligence support.

Munich-based Quantum Frontline issued a press release last month announcing completion of the first batch of production of the battle-proven Linza drone systems "to ensure consistent, scalable output for the armed forces of Ukraine". The same month, the Netherlands signed a contract with Ukrainian companies to produce 600,000 drones as part of a new €175-million aid package. Aviation Week reported that Britain's uncrewed aircraft systems manufacturers, including Malloy Aeronautics, Tekever and Windracers, are among the suppliers to benefit from a UK plan to provide 120,000 long-range strike drones for Ukraine this year. Clearly, the Europeans are striving for escalation dominance.

The proxy war is in danger of transforming as a direct EU/Nato confrontation with Russia. Neither Europeans nor Americans seem very much concerned about Ukraine's future, although the narrative would still have us believe that Kyiv is gaining the "upper hand", thanks to its superior drone technology. Actually, it is the EU that is putting this escalation on an aggressive footing, while itself transitioning as a sort of menagerie of metaphysical monsters supplying long-range drones on an industrial scale to Ukraine.

The bottom line is that the Trump administration's retrenchment by no means signifies that Ukraine war is petering out; a whole new ecosystem is struggling to be born with the EU as the midwife and the American deep state providing gravitas—a commanding presence that remains invisible to the onlookers, but nonetheless earns deep respect and trust from other protagonists. This is happening at a time when the EU itself is also militarising for a war with Russia in a conceivable timeframe, which European politicians are openly discussing with a view to sensitise domestic opinion and prepare for a transition to war footing.

Last week, Russian intelligence accused Baltic countries and Poland of allowing Ukraine to use their airspace to carry out drone strikes on Russia. Conceivably, Russian retaliation would involve targeting Nato territory, but Moscow is unlikely to take such a hugely consequential escalatory step. Nonetheless, this is becoming a dangerous game, as the likelihood of nuclear weapons being used is increasing. Against this backdrop, Trump announced on Friday a new deployment of 5,000 troops to Poland, the emerging 'frontline state'.

One alternative for Russia will be to expand the scope of the war. The annexation of Ukraine is a popular idea within Russia, but entails a costly war crossing the Dnieper and occupying western Ukraine, where Russian forces will be operating in a hostile environment, historically being a cauldron of militant Ukrainian nationalism. It may well turn into a "bleeding wound" in the way Mikhail Gorbachev characterised Afghanistan.

A more viable option in the circumstances may be to fulfil the original objectives of the special military operation that was launched in February 2022 and create new facts on the ground in Donbas. Of course, there could be a third way too, which no one wants to talk about.

Last weekend, Russia's outspoken Deputy Chairman of Security Council, Dmitry Medvedev, an avowedly influential Kremlin politician, raised the spectre of Ukraine becoming a "failed state". Writing on the Max channel (comparable to China's WeChat), Medvedev concluded that "the dissolution of Ukraine is inevitable" given its dysfunctional state, economic trauma, sovereignty loss, and Russia's annexation of a fifth of its territory.

The pendulum is swinging in favour of hardliners who demand an all-out military campaign to make the Ukraine war the end of all wars for Russia. In an extraordinary statement, the Russian defence ministry announced a 'systematic' campaign hitting the military-industrial complex and warned foreign citizens, including diplomats and personnel of international organisations, to "evacuate" the Ukrainian capital. It is a moot question now for whom the bell tolls in Kyiv. (Views are personal)

LESSONS FROM A GREYING PENINSULA

ANTONY PALACKAL Former Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, University of Kerala

THE Sample Registration System's report from the Registrar General of India marks a critical milestone in the nation's demographic trajectory. The data for 2024 released this week confirms that India's total fertility rate (TFR) has stabilised at 1.9, reinforcing its position below the population replacement threshold of 2.1. This macro-level stability signals that India has crossed a structural pivot, transitioning away from historical anxieties of a population 'explosion' towards a phase of long-term stabilisation.

However, beneath this national aggregate lies an accelerating demographic divergence between the southern states and the rest of the country. This regional divide is driven by decades of distinct state-level investments in public health infrastructure, female literacy and social development.

The most striking divergence is reflected in the indicators of fertility and natality, where the southern states record parameters comparable to advanced industrial economies. Nationally, the crude birth rate (CBR) stands at 18.3 per 1,000 population, heavily influenced by high-fertility northern states such as Bihar, which records a national high of 26.8. In sharp contrast, the southern regional baseline is dramatically compressed, led by Kerala with an exceptionally low CBR of 11.1.

This chasm is mirrored in the TFR metrics: Kerala and Tamil Nadu exhibit an ultra-low TFR of 1.3. Demographers note that sustained fertility levels below 1.4 inevitably trigger rapid structural contraction, a reality the south is confronting decades ahead of the national timeline. The mortality and healthcare indicators in the SRS report further illustrate this asymmetric development. The national infant mortality rate (IMR) has declined to 24, while Kerala secures a national low IMR of 8. However, a paradox emerges in the CDR, where the national average sits at 6.4, but Kerala records a higher rate of 7.2 due to its older demographic profile.

This demographic contraction has fundamentally altered age distribution patterns. At the national level, the proportion of children aged up to 14 years has receded to 24 percent, while the population aged 60 and above has risen to 9.7 percent. Such greying is highly concentrated in the south. The child cohort has shrunk to just 18 percent in Tamil Nadu, compared to 31.5 percent in Bihar. By 2036, nearly one in four Keralites is expected to be above 60.

One of the most significant features of Kerala's ageing pattern is the "feminisation of ageing", where women considerably outnumber men in higher age groups, producing a large number of widowed and solitary elderly women vulnerable to social isolation and insecurity.

In many ways, Kerala is a laboratory of India's demographic future. The problems Kerala experiences today—eldercare, dementia, loneliness, shrinking family support systems and long-term care—are likely to become major national concerns in the coming decades. Nuclear families, weakening caregiving structures, migration of younger generations abroad and increasing individualisation have fundamentally altered the social experience of ageing. Traditional family-based systems of caregiving are gradually eroding without adequate institutional alternatives emerging in their place.

EXPRESS

The latest fertility report confirms that southern India is ageing much faster than the north. As Kerala becomes a lab for addressing such demographic shift, the rest of the country would do well to heed the state's plan to form a new department for senior citizens

It is against this background that the decision of the new UDF government in Kerala to create a separate department for senior citizens acquires historic significance. The initiative marks a shift from viewing the elderly merely as passive welfare beneficiaries towards recognising them as citizens with rights, dignity and continuing contributions.

The proposed department seeks to embody a vision of "active, dignified and graceful ageing" through a unified policy architecture integrating schemes presently scattered across the social justice, health, and local self-government domains. Greater emphasis is expected on specialised geriatric healthcare infrastructure, including home-based care systems, palliative care, dementia care and digital health monitoring.

The state has also expressed interest in adapting elements of the model for elderly care in Japan, which transformed ageing from a welfare burden into a collective social responsibility through the philosophy of "ageing in place". Its long-term care insurance system distributes responsibility for elderly care among the state and local governments, communities and families, while supporting home care, rehabilitation, dementia centres, nursing services and support centres. Equally important is Japan's emphasis on preventive healthcare, emotional well-being, neighbourhood care and social participation.

Technology also plays a central role through telemedicine, robotics, AI-supported monitoring systems, mobility aids, and emergency response devices. Elder-friendly urban planning, barrier-free infrastructure, and accessible public spaces are integral components of the system.

Sociologically and politically, the SRS findings introduce profound tensions into India's federal structure. For the southern corridor, the paradigm of population control is now obsolete. If implemented imaginatively and sustainably, Kerala's new department for senior citizens could emerge as a pioneering model for India, demonstrating how an ageing society can be approached not with fear or neglect, but with compassion, institutional imagination and a commitment to graceful ageing. (Views are personal)

Clouds over QUAD leaders' summit

Sustaining momentum for event has become increasingly difficult amid leadership transitions

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

EVEN as the Quad foreign ministers unveiled a broad new agenda on energy security, maritime cooperation and critical minerals in New Delhi on Tuesday, a conspicuous omission cast a shadow over the grouping's evolving trajectory—there was no clarity on when, or where, the next Quad Leaders' Summit would take place. The absence of any announcement on the summit, which India was expected to host after the 2024 Wilmington meeting in the US, has triggered speculation that the Quad may be quietly shifting away from the high-profile summit diplomacy that defined its recent evolution and reverting instead to a more functional ministerial format.

The uncertainty stood out because previous Quad joint statements had consistently identified the host of the next leaders' summit. This time, however, the statement issued after the meeting between External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, Secretary of State Marco Rubio, Australian Foreign Minister Penny Wong and Japanese Foreign Minister Toshimitsu Motegi merely said the ministers "look forward to the convening of the Quad Leaders' Summit".

"We look forward to the convening of the Quad Leaders' Summit, the next Quad Foreign Ministers' Meeting, and continuing our engagements that advance peace, stability, and prosperity in the Indo-Pacific and beyond," the statement said, without specifying timelines or venue. The ambiguity is diplomatically significant. Since its revival in 2017, the Quad transformed from a cautious strategic dialogue into a leaders-led Indo-Pacific coalition. Annual summits became the political centrepiece of the grouping after they were elevated in 2021, signalling a coordinated strategic response to China's growing assertiveness across the Indo-Pacific.

'Scheduling difficulties key factor behind uncertainty'

Officials indicated on Tuesday that scheduling difficulties remain a key factor behind the uncertainty. "As far as the Summit is concerned, I think Quad leaders have just met. The Quad foreign ministers have just met today," said Nagaraj Naidu, Additional Secretary handling the Americas division in the Ministry of External Affairs.

But sustaining that summit-level momentum has become increasingly difficult amid leadership transitions, crowded diplomatic calendars and shifting geopolitical priorities. The Wilmington summit in 2024 itself reflected that complexity. Although it was India's turn to host the meeting, New Delhi agreed to let the US organise it in Delaware as a farewell summit for then President Joe Biden before the American election cycle kicked in.

Officials indicated on Tuesday that scheduling difficulties remain a major factor behind the current uncertainty. "As far as the Summit is concerned, I think Quad leaders have just met. The Quad foreign ministers have just met today," said Nagaraj Naidu, Additional Secretary handling the Americas division in the Ministry of External Affairs.

"The Quad usually discusses these dates and occasions where it is convenient for the leaders to meet because leaders' schedules are always very, very difficult to pin down," he said. Referring to the Wilmington summit, Naidu added: "It was actually supposed to be hosted by India, but then as a gesture to President Biden, who was leaving the White House, it was decided that perhaps it could be done in Delaware."

He stressed that discussions among the four capitals were continuing. "We leave it to our seniors, our foreign ministers, they are in touch with each other... This will be a great occasion for us. A summit-level meeting is always something that even we look forward to," he said. Toshihiro Kitamura, Press Secretary to the Japanese Foreign Minister, said there had been no conversation on leaders' summit on Tuesday and noted that Australia was expected to host the next meeting.

AI and IndiGo to cut domestic flights amid high fuel prices due to Iran war

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

INDIA'S leading airlines Air India and IndiGo, which control over 90 per cent of the domestic aviation market share, have decided to cut down their domestic operations beginning June 1 for a period of three months. The spike in aviation turbine fuel (ATF) cost following the commencement of the US-Iran war and the lean months following the school vacations are the reasons cited for the move by multiple sources.

Air India will reduce domestic operations by up to 15 per cent, while IndiGo will cut them by a maximum of seven per cent. Air India had recently announced a reduction in its international flight operations too. The ATF cost accounts for nearly 40 per cent of an airline's operational cost.

A top source in Air India said, "We operate an average of 3,800 flights per week. The ATF cost for our domestic flights used to be ₹80,000 per kilo litre. It has shot up to ₹1,00,000 and above depending on the city in India, since the VAT imposed by the state governments vary. It will not be financially viable to operate when the ATF cost is so high." On May 17, the Delhi government had announced slashing of VAT on ATF to seven per cent from 25 per cent.

The source added, "We will not remove any route, but will only reduce the number of flights operated in one particular sector. There is a long list that we plan to reduce." Among the flights to be axed are those from Mumbai towards Ahmedabad, Nagpur, Patna and Bhopal. From Delhi, the number of flights operated towards Hyderabad, Bengaluru and Kolkata will be cut, the source said. "While a major chunk will be reduced from Mumbai and Delhi airports, the southern region too will be impacted as the return flights in the direction too get cancelled," he added.

Reductions up to 15%

Air India will reduce domestic operations by up to 15 per cent, while IndiGo will cut them by a maximum of seven per cent. Air India had recently announced a reduction in its international flight operations too.

Another reason for the cancellation is the slash in international flight operations. "Due to the reduced international network presently, the passengers who used to take domestic flights from different cities to reach, say Delhi or Mumbai, too will go down. The expected reduced patronage too is a reason for the decision to cut number of flights, he said.

"We will not be operating the flights from June 1 till August end. The flights have already been removed from the website, so that passengers should not book them," the source added.

IndiGo, meanwhile, said that it would reduce anywhere between five to seven per cent of its domestic operations. "Historically, the months after the academic vacations have poor flight occupancy. Due to the less demand expected, we will be scaling down our operations from June 1. IndiGo operates 1,950 flights per day. So, even cutting our operations by a small amount would result in a huge number of flights getting reduced," said a source.

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

To help the bleeding aviation industry, on April 1, 2026, the Centre had capped the increase in ATF price for domestic operators to 25 per cent in order to cushion the blow caused by the international turmoil. It had also reduced the parking fee and introduced an Emergency Credit Scheme for airlines.

Pradhan directs 4 public sector banks to redo CBSE payment gateway system

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

EDUCATION Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Tuesday held detailed talks with senior bank officials of four public sector banks and urged them to overhaul the Payment Gateway System for the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE). The system ran into major issues last week when students were applying for the re-evaluation of their exam papers, with huge amounts ranging between ₹8,000 and ₹67,000 deducted in place of ₹100 per subject.

Following a barrage of complaints from parents and students, the minister spoke with Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on May 24 regarding the payment glitches. The ministry later announced that it would bring on board public sector banks to ensure a smooth payment process.

An official release said that representatives from State Bank of India (SBI), Bank of Baroda, Canara Bank, and Indian Bank were involved in the discussions. "The minister emphasised the need for a robust, reliable, and student-friendly payment ecosystem, particularly for post-examination services such as re-evaluation, obtaining photocopies of answer sheets, and other fee-based processes," it said.

Move for students' ease

The banks have been asked to work closely with CBSE to strengthen the payment gateway infrastructure. Bank officials were urged to accord highest priority to this initiative to ensure that students do not face glitches.

Pradhan directed the banks to assist the CBSE in establishing robust payment protocol. "The system must ensure timely transactions, immediate resolution of payment-related issues, and automatic refunds for excess or failed payments," the minister said.

The banks have been asked to work closely with CBSE to strengthen the payment gateway infrastructure through advanced technical safeguards, real-time monitoring and faster grievance redressal mechanisms. Bank officials were urged to accord the highest priority to this initiative to ensure that students do not face technical glitches or payment failures in the future.

Pradhan asked the banks to ensure smooth, secure, and efficient digital transactions. "Officials of the four banks assured full support and committed to implementing enhanced protocols and technical upgrades at the earliest, in coordination with CBSE," it said.

In a separate development, the medical entrance re-exam on June 21 clashes with the proposed scheduled date for the constable recruitment exam in Bihar. A source of the NTA said that the Central Selection Board of Constable (CSBC) has agreed to postpone its dates.

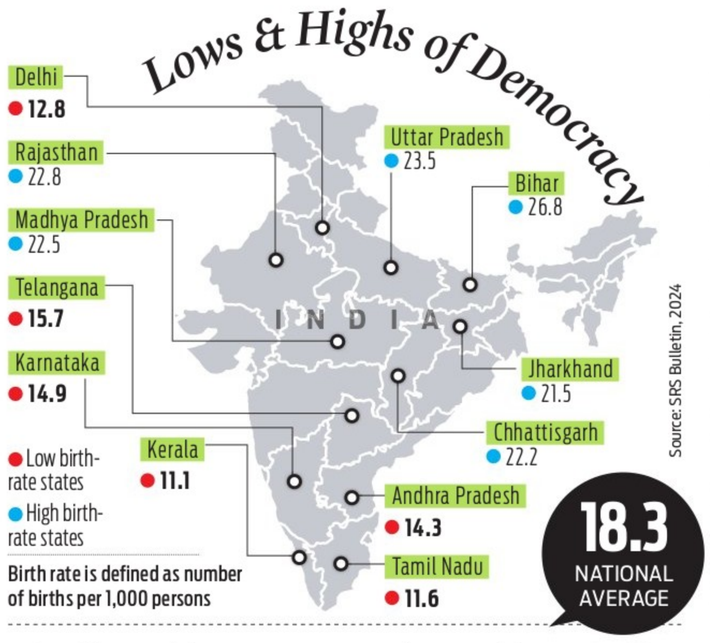
Debate on delimitation is back in focus

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE contentious issue of delimitation has arisen again after the Union Home Ministry published the latest round of the Sample Registration System (SRS) Bulletin. The sample data shows a widening population gap between southern and northern states.

According to the SRS Bulletin 2024, Kerala recorded the lowest birth rate—defined as number of births per 1,000 persons—among major states at 11.1, followed by Tamil Nadu at 11.6, Andhra Pradesh at 14.3, Karnataka at 14.9, and Telangana at 15.7. In contrast, Bihar recorded the highest birth rate at 26.8, followed by Uttar Pradesh at 23.5, Rajasthan at 22.8, Madhya Pradesh at 22.5, Chhattisgarh at 22.2, and Jharkhand at 21.5.

The report assumes significance amid the political showdown that took place between the Centre and the Opposition after a constitutional amendment to expand the Lok Sabha seats to 815 and carry out delimitation based on the 2011 Census was defeated in the lower house during the Budget session of Parliament.



Speaking to this newspaper, DMK MP T Sumathy said the latest total fertility rate (TFR) data—defined as the number of births per woman—reinforces concerns repeatedly raised by Tamil Nadu and other southern states. "Tamil Nadu's TFR has declined to 1.3, far below the replacement level, because of sustained investments in public healthcare, women's education, nutrition, and welfare policies under the Dravidian model," she said.

The report shows that India's TFR has dropped below the replacement level in all states, except in Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh and Jharkhand.

Congress MP Manickam Tagore said the widening demographic gap could turn the "demographic reward" into a political disadvantage for southern states. "The report underscores our concern," he said.

Echoing similar concerns, CPI(M) MP John Brittas called for a revised delimitation framework, arguing that neither a population-only approach nor a 50 per cent increase in Lok Sabha seats would adequately address regional disparities. The exercise should not be based on the 2011 Census, he said. "The trend clearly shows that Hindi heartland states are likely to remain above replacement fertility levels for some time," Brittas said, adding, "Over the coming decades, the demographic balance between southern and northern states will continue to diverge. That's why we need a new formula for delimitation."

India's former chief statistician Pronab Sen said the SRS data reflected long-term demographic changes already underway, but cautioned against drawing final conclusions before the next Census is conducted. "The next Census will capture factors such as reverse migration and other demographic shifts that have taken place over the years," he said.

SC to decide SIR constitutional validity today

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court is scheduled to pronounce on Wednesday its judgement on a batch of petitions challenging the constitutional validity of the SIR (Special Intensive Revision) exercise of voter lists being carried out by the Election Commission of India (EC) in various states.

A three-judge bench headed by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant and comprising Justices Joymalya Bagchi and V M Pancholi—who reserved the batch of pleas on January 29—will pronounce its verdict.

The SC will decide whether the EC has the power to conduct SIR in its present form under Article 326 of the Constitution, the Representation of the People Act, 1950, and the related rules.

The batch of petitions filed last June following the EC's decision to conduct SIR in Bihar and other states—includes the ones filed by NGOs—The Association of Democratic Reforms, People's Union for Civil Liberties (PUCL), political activist Yogendra Yadav, Mahua Moitra (TMC), Manoj Jha (RJD), K C Venugopal (Congress), Supriya Sule (NCP), Mujahid Alam (NFIW), among others.

Last year, the EC had directed the conducting of SIR in Bihar and many other states. Following this, a batch of pleas has been filed before the SC challenging the constitutional validity of the entire exercise.

The petitioners from the top court sought a direction to set aside the EC's SIR order of June 24, 2025. "Issue a writ, order or direction setting aside the order and communication dated 24.06.2025 and accompanying guidelines issued by EC to conduct SIR of the electoral rolls in Bihar as being in violation of Articles 14, 19, 21, 325, and 326 of the Constitution of India and provisions of the Representation of People (RP) Act, 1950 and Registration of Electors Rules, 1960," said the plea of ADR, filed in the top court.

The SC also impleaded all the political parties for SIR of electoral rolls in Bihar. On July 28, the SC in its order refused to stay the EC from publishing draft voters list on August 1, 2025, after SIR of electoral rolls in Bihar.

'No urgency': SC junks PIL on cow slaughter

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday refused to grant urgent listing and hearing to a petition seeking implementation of anti-cow slaughter laws before Bakrid, which falls on May 28, 2026.

Advocate Barun Kumar Sinha, appearing for the petitioner, made an oral mention before the apex court seeking an early hearing. "We are seeking an early hearing so that, if Your Lordships are inclined, an interim order can be passed," he told the court.

The bench, headed by Chief Justice of India (CJI) Surya Kant, after hearing the submission, asked the lawyer, "You remember this a day before Bakrid. There is no urgency in the matter," and refused to list the matter urgently.

The CJI added that the plea had been filed at the last moment and that the court could not entertain it at this stage.

Dashboard camera surveys cover 600 stretches, 40,000 km of NH network

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

TO assess road conditions and street furniture using advanced AI-powered Dashcam Analytics Services (DAS), the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has identified over 600 stretches covering nearly 40,000 km of the national highway and expressway (NH) network. As part of the exercise, Route Patrol Vehicles (RPVs) equipped with dashboard cameras will conduct weekly surveys comprehensively.

Advanced AI and machine learning-trained models have been deployed for the identification of over 30 types of defects and anomalies automatically. The initiative is a significant step towards transforming operations and management (O&M) of the highways.

For smooth implementation of the project, states and union territories (UTs) have been divided into five zones: north, central, east, west, and south.

The authority has also released a SoP detailing the role and responsibilities of stakeholders like the road maintenance division or survey agencies for the implementation of dashcam surveys and monitoring of highways.

At least one weekly survey to be conducted

To ensure road safety, at least one weekly survey will also be conducted at night in a month for performance evaluation of road signages, pavement markings, road studs and highway lighting. Other critical maintenance issues such as missing drainage covers, water stagnation, vegetation growth and condition of bus bays will also be monitored," said officials.

According to the officials, the major focus during the exercise will be on pavement conditions, including detection of potholes, rutting, and severe cracking.

The survey will also cover road furniture, incorporating real-time identification of damaged or faded lane markings, crash barriers and non-functional streetlights. "Special emphasis will be put on safety of users and encroachments through monitoring for illegal median openings, unauthorised signboards, and illegal parking or encroachments...

This newspaper recently reported that after focusing on improving the quality of highway construction, the ministry of road transport and highways (MoRTH) has shifted its attention towards their long-term maintenance and protection.

B'deshi migrants throng Bengal border to return

Over 150 people wait for BSF permission to cross border in Basirhat

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

WITHIN 48 hours after the Suvendu Adhikari government announced setting up of "holding centres" across districts, a fresh rush of Bangladeshi migrants trying to return to their country was reported at Hakimpur border in North 24-Parganas district on Tuesday.

Since early morning, illegal immigrants carrying personal belongings gathered at the BSF check post at Hakimpur under the Basirhat subdivision. More than 150 people were reportedly waiting for permission from BSF personnel to cross the border and return to Bangladesh.

A similar situation was seen in October last year, after the Election Commission announced the Special Intensive Revision of electoral rolls in West Bengal. Following the exercise, hundreds of Bangladeshi immigrants working in Rajarhat, New Town, Dum Dum, Dankuni and Howrah had gathered at the Hakimpur checkpoint and returned to Bangladesh. Since then, no such crowd had been reported.

On Saturday, the government issued a notification following guidelines from the Union Home Ministry about deportation procedures for Bangladeshi nationals and Rohingyas staying illegally. The notification asked district authorities to take steps to set up "Holding Centres" for apprehended foreigners and for released foreign prisoners who are awaiting deportation.

The development came days after Adhikari said his government would follow a policy of "detect, delete and deport" against "illegal infiltrators." "Those not covered under the CAA are completely illegal infiltrators," Adhikari said on May 20. "The state police will arrest them and hand them over to the BSF."

Malda became the first district to open a holding centre at Chandan Park in English Bazar town. The facility has housed nine suspected Bangladeshi nationals. Another centre has also been opened in Murshidabad's Lalgola area.

Under the framework, suspected illegal entrants can be held for up to 30 days while district magistrates and designated officers hold verification procedures. Officials will collect biometric details, upload records and prepare documents.

Ram Rahim gets parole again in 2002 rape case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

DERA Sacha Sauda chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh, who is serving a 20-year jail term for raping two of his disciples, on Tuesday walked out of Sunaria jail in Haryana's Rohtak on a 30-day parole. This happens to be his 16th release since his conviction in a rape case in 2017.

Rahim came out of the jail premises around 6:35 am in an SUV amid tight police security arrangements.

Earlier this year, Ram Rahim was granted a 40-day parole in January, and before that he was released on a 40-day parole in August 2025, a 21-day furlough in April 2025 and a 30-day parole in January 2025 ahead of the February 5 Delhi assembly elections.

According to officers, Ram Rahim will stay at his Dera headquarters in Sirsa during the parole period. He is not allowed to assemble his followers at his Deras, but he can address them virtually.

He had also received a 20-day parole on October 1, 2024, days before the Haryana assembly polls, besides a 21-day furlough in August 2024 and a three-week furlough in February 2022 ahead of the Punjab assembly elections.

The Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee had previously criticised the repeated grant of parole to Rahim.

Fast-track court frames charges against all seven accused in Zubeen case

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A special fast-track court in Assam on Tuesday framed charges against all the seven accused in the singer-musician Zubeen Garg's death case.

Briefing media persons, special public prosecutor Ziaul Kamar said the court framed the charges based on the sections mentioned in the charge sheet filed by the Assam Special Investigation Team (SIT).

The SIT had slapped the charge of murder against four accused—North East India Festival organiser Shyamkanu Mahanta, Garg's manager Siddharth Sharma, bandmate Shekhar Jyoti Goswami and singer Amritprabha Mahanta.

The three other accused were Garg's DSP cousin Sandipan Garg, personal security officers Nandeswar Bora and Prabin Baishya.

"After hearing the submissions made by both sides, the court presided over by Justice Sharmila Bhuyan framed the charges against all the seven accused persons. From today, there will be no miscellaneous hearing. Trial in the main case will be held on a daily basis from June 8," Kamar said.

He further stated that only Sandipan was not facing the charge of conspiracy.

The singer's wife Garima Saikia Garg was optimistic about getting justice in the case. "Truth will prevail in the fight for justice. We have complete faith and trust in the legal system," she said.

Meanwhile, speaking in the Assembly on Tuesday, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma trained his gun on the Congress for allegedly politicising Garg's demise during Assembly elections.

"Zubeen Garg was our heartthrob and an asset of Assam who had influenced generations of Assamese youth through his music and public life," Sarma stated.

Garg (52) died while swimming near the Lazarus Island in Singapore on September 19 last year. He travelled to the country to attend the North East India Festival.

In December last year, Sarma had told the Assembly that Garg was murdered as part of a conspiracy. However, a coroner's inquiry in Singapore ruled that he drowned accidentally.

CM lays foundation for ₹6.75 crore project

CM Pushkar Singh Dhami's Kumaon tour on Monday underscored a commitment to both infrastructure and community empowerment. Starting in Haldwani, the CM laid the foundation for a state-of-the-art media centre, a ₹6.75 crore project designed to bolster press facilities. "Journalists are the bedrock of democracy," Dhami remarked, emphasising the government's drive to provide modern resources for the region's media corps. Later, in Khatima, the tone shifted from governance to grassroots development as the CM inaugurated projects worth ₹89 lakh. The spotlight was on the 'Hi-Tech Didi Library' and a new gymnasium.

'Bhagat Da' conferred Padma Bhushan by Prez

Former Uttarakhand CM and Maharashtra ex-governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari was conferred the Padma Bhushan for public affairs by President Droupadi Murmu at Rashtrapati Bhavan's Ganatantra Mandap during the 2026 Civil Investiture Ceremony. Fondly called 'Bhagat Da' across Uttarakhand, Koshyari's journey remains deeply inspiring. Born in remote Palandhura village in 1942, he rose from modest beginnings as a lecturer to become a key figure in Indian politics. Koshyari served as Cabinet Minister in the state's first government, briefly as CM, LoP, Rajya Sabha MP in 2008, and Lok Sabha MP from Nainital in 2014.

NSG heroes conquer Everest in record time

The state has once again proven that no peak is insurmountable when determination prevails. On May 23, a 16-member NSG team, led by Dehradun's Major Akhilesh Bhatt, scripted history by conquering Mount Everest at 3:26 AM. Achieving the summit in just 20 days from Kathmandu is a rare feat. The success was forged through months of preparation—scaling Mount Satopanth in 2025 and completing intense winter training in Lahaul-Spiti. With fellow Uttarakhand natives—Subedar Suresh Kumar, Naik Rahul Singh, Naik Pankaj Singh, and Commando Gautam Butola—the expedition reflects the indomitable spirit of 'Devbhoomi'.

Probe ordered into Gulmarg gondola snag

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE authorities have launched an investigation into the technical glitch in the cable car system in the Gulmarg ski resort in Jammu and Kashmir that left 320 tourists stranded mid-air for nearly eight hours on Monday. The cable car service will remain shut for a week.

State tourism director Syed Qamar Sajad said the government had two options when the gearbox of the system developed snag. "Either we had to repair it on spot or replace it. We had a spare available, but it would have taken us 12 to 24 hours to replace it. We decided that we will proceed with the rescue operation to rescue the tourists stranded on cable cars," he said.

He announced that the technical glitch would be probed. "The engineering team and experts will put their heads together to decide whether we will go for a change of gear box and what was the reason for this technical snag," he said.

A large-scale rescue operation was immediately launched jointly by Jammu and Kashmir Police, the Army, other Central agencies and the Cable Car Corporation. The rescue teams climbed difficult terrain and used specialised equipment to reach stranded gondolas.

CBI records statements of Twisha kin, conducts matrimonial home study

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

HOURS after taking over the probe into the May 12 alleged dowry death of model-actor Twisha Sharma, a team of CBI Special Crime Unit-III from Delhi started investigations on the ground in Madhya Pradesh capital Bhopal on Tuesday.

The CBI team comprising two female sleuths conducted a study of the crime scene – the terrace of Twisha's matrimonial house in the Katara Hills area, where the 33-year-old Twisha was allegedly found hanging to death on the night of May 12. The team also analysed other parts of the house.

Twisha's mother-in-law Giribala and husband Samarth are both accused in the suspected dowry death case registered by the CBI on Monday evening on the basis of the Bhopal Police's FIR in the case, which was registered on May 15.

After Twisha's matrimonial house in Katara Hills area, the CBI team drove around 25 km to the 3 EME Centre of the Indian Army, where they met Twisha's parents, army officer brother Major Harshit Sharma and recorded their statements.

The CBI team stood at the Kurukshetra officer's mess of the 3 EME Centre in Bhopal's Bairagarh area for around two and half hours.

Subsequently, the Bhopal Police's SIT formally handed over the case diary and investigation-related records, including forensic analysis documents, post-mortem reports, witness statements and digital evidence, to the CBI team.

A source privy to Tuesday's developments claimed that the CBI team wasn't satisfied with the head of Katara Hills Police Station, particularly as the documents weren't arranged in the right sequence. The team is believed to have conveyed some procedural lapses in investigations. If the CBI wants to interrogate Samarth in its custody, it will have to move a plea before the special CBI court.

Shah visits Sanchu outpost along Indo-Pak border in Raj

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday visited the Sanchu Border Outpost near the India-Pakistan international border in Rajasthan and unveiled a modern security model for the nation's defence. Addressing BSF personnel at the historic Sanchu Post in Bikaner, Shah called for a strong "Four-Dimensional Grid" involving the BSF, the Army, local administration, and vigilant citizens to strengthen border security. The international border lies only five kilometres from the Sanchu Post.

Shah said the four-pronged grid would help counter infiltration, smuggling, and drone threats. He explained that the BSF, the Army, local residents, the District Collector, and the Cyber Wing would work together to dismantle illegal networks at the grassroots level. He stated, "When these four pillars function in unison and act like an impenetrable fortress, any threat emanating from across border, any arms smuggling attempt, or any reconnaissance drone will be instantly shot down."

Shah also dedicated the Vibrant Villages Programme-2 for border regions in Rajasthan. Under the scheme, villages in the districts of Sri Ganganagar, Barmer, Bikaner, and Jaisalmer will receive better roads, electricity, educational facilities, mobile connectivity, and drinking water. Shah said the goal was to transform the country's "last villages" into "first villages" and stop migration from border areas.

The programme will cover 184 remote villages along the international border with Pakistan. High-speed 4G and 5G services, all-weather roads, television connectivity, and round-the-clock electricity will be developed on priority.

Recalling the history of Sanchu Post, Shah said the border had witnessed the wars of 1965 and 1971. He praised BSF personnel for their bravery during "Operation Sindoor" and said the military museum inaugurated at the post would inspire future generations.

Shah also e-inaugurated 14 high-tech barracks for women personnel and announced a 1,096-km border road project across Rajasthan's desert region. Focusing on women's welfare, Shah said the new barracks will ensure safety, privacy, and comfort for female guards.

Asiatic lion deaths trigger alarm in Gir, Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

ASIATIC lions in Gujarat's Gir are facing a health scare. In a matter of days, five lions and cubs have died across Gir East and Gir West forest divisions, triggering panic in the Forest Department and reviving memories of the deadly 2018 epidemic. While officials insist the situation is under control, emergency rescue operations, disease surveillance and intense monitoring have now been launched.

Officials say that Asiatic lions have come under threat due to a mix of canine distemper virus (CDV) and Babesia infection. In the Jasadhar range on the Gir-Gadhada border in Dhari Gir East, two lions reportedly died in a single day due to suspected contagious infection. Almost simultaneously, more lion deaths were reported from the Babaria and Jamwala ranges under Gir West.

As the information about lion deaths started leaking out through unofficial channels, Gujarat Forest and Environment Minister Arjun Modhwadia attempted to calm fears, insisting the outbreak was not yet a major threat. "Only two lions are suspected to have died due to Babesia infection. The remaining deaths occurred due to conflict or other reasons," the minister said on Tuesday.

Explaining the disease, the minister said that Babesia spreads through infected ticks and severely weakens lions. "The infected animals show symptoms like weakness, nasal discharge and coughing, which can eventually lead to death. Veterinary teams are actively identifying suspected lions, collecting samples, removing ticks and providing treatment," he said, adding that the state's lion management system was globally appreciated and there was no reason for panic.

However, sources say, the situation does not appear normal in the forests. According to the Forest Department data, one lion cub died each in the Liliya, Savarkundla and Sarsia ranges. Officials fear that if infections spread among pride groups, cub mortality could rise rapidly, as their immunity takes time to develop.

Forest officials are not leaving anything to chance. They have rescued and shifted an entire pride of eight lions from the Dhari-Sarsia belt and put it under close observation. Veterinary teams are combing through forest zones to identify weak or visibly sick lions before symptoms worsen. Lion groups are being separated based on suspected infection levels, while blood and tissue samples are being collected for testing. Special night operations have also begun, with veterinarians monitoring animal movement and preparing cage rescue operations.

Ironically, the outbreak has come at a time when Gujarat's lion numbers are at a historic high. As per figures tabled in the Gujarat Legislative Assembly, the Asiatic lion population rose to 891 by January 2026.

Justice after six decades: U'khand war widow gets long-awaited relief

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

FOR six decades, Debuli Devi carried the memory of her husband Sepoy Madan Singh, who made the ultimate sacrifice during the 1965 Pakistan war, but waited patiently for the settlement of final dues from the Army. Last week, the long wait ended as she received the first installment of a long-overdue financial grant.

Sepoy Madan Singh fell in the line of duty on September 7, 1965. While Debuli Devi, who lives in a remote mountainous village, has been receiving a liberal family pension for years, a bureaucratic maze kept other rightful entitlements out of her reach. However, following a special review campaign launched by the Centre to resolve pending cases of war martyrs, authorities cleared the path for her final compensation.

Through the collaborative efforts of the Indian Army and the Department of Sainik Welfare, an amount of ₹28.45 lakh was deposited into Debuli Devi's bank account. The money, though, is secondary to the acknowledgement she received. "The Indian Army has always stood firmly with Veer Naris and the families of martyrs," she said, while expressing her gratitude to the District Sainik Welfare Office. "This gives hope to thousands of other families whose files have remained stuck in administrative pathways," she added.

Uttarakhand's Minister for Sainik Welfare Ganesh Joshi expressed satisfaction at resolution of this case. "We are committed to ensuring that no family of martyrs is left behind due to paperwork," he stated, adding, "We will soon compile a list of all such pending cases and request the Centre to prioritise their resolution."

Iran fumes at US strikes, warns of consequences

Military says strikes on southern Iran targeted missile sites and mine-laying boats, calls action defensive and restrained despite ceasefire

DUBAI

IRAN on Tuesday denounced US strikes a day earlier as a sign of "bad faith and unreliability" as negotiations continue toward a possible deal to end the war. The US military has characterised Monday's strikes in southern Iran as defensive, saying targets included missile launch sites and boats placing mines, and said the US acted with "restraint" in light of the weekslong ceasefire.

Iran's foreign ministry called the strikes a ceasefire violation and warned that Washington would bear responsibility for "all consequences," without details. "The Islamic Republic of Iran will leave no act of aggression unanswered," it added in a statement. Iran's Revolutionary Guard on Tuesday said it had shot down and deterred drones and a fighter jet that entered its airspace, according to Iran's official Mizan news agency, which did not specify when the incident occurred.

It wasn't immediately clear what the developments would mean for negotiations. The strikes came after Iranian parliament speaker Mohammad Bagher Qalibaf went to Qatar as part of the talks, which US President Donald Trump said Monday were "proceeding nicely."

WAR WATCH

The strikes were the latest flare-up in the fragile ceasefire that began April 7 and has largely held. Negotiations center in part on the Strait of Hormuz, the crucial waterway off southern Iran through which a fifth of the world's crude oil and natural gas passed before the war began with US-Israeli strikes in February. Tehran retaliated by effectively closing the strait, stranding hundreds of ships and shocking the global economy.

The UK Maritime Trade Operations Center said an explosion was reported on Tuesday morning aboard a tanker in the Gulf of Oman, which lies near the strait. No one was injured in the blast; there was no immediate information on the cause.

Besides disrupting energy markets, the strait's closure is also squeezing fertiliser supplies worldwide.

The full impact might not become clear until harvests that are months away. UN Food and Agriculture Organization Director-General Qu Dongyu, warned at an event in Rome Tuesday that "the decisions we make now will determine whether this remains a manageable shock or evolves into a deeper global food security crisis in 2026 and 2027 and beyond." The strait has become a key leverage point for Tehran alongside its nuclear programme. Iran, in turn, wants the US to lift its blockade of Iranian ports imposed on April 17. AP

Trump open to on-site destruction of uranium under IAEA supervision

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump said Iran's enriched uranium can be turned and destroyed in the US, but his preference is for it to be destroyed "in place" or at "another acceptable location," under the supervision of the IAEA.

Trump's comment marks a shift in his repeated statements that Iran hand over its enriched uranium to the US as a sticking point of any potential deal. "The Enriched Uranium (nuclear dust!) will either be immediately turned over to the United States to be brought home and destroyed or, preferably, in conjunction and coordination with the Islamic Republic of Iran, destroyed in place or, at another acceptable location, with the Atomic Energy Commission, or its equivalent, being witness to this process and event," Trump said in a post on Truth Social.On Monday, Trump said negotiations with Iran to end the war were progressing "nicely" and urged countries involved in the peace talks to sign on to the Abraham Accords, which deal with establishing diplomatic, economic and security ties between Israel and Arab nations.

He said it would be an honour to have Iran as a signatory to the Accords. "...after all the work done by the United States to try and pull this very complex puzzle together, it should be mandatory that all of these Countries, at a minimum, simultaneously, sign onto the Abraham Accords," Trump said, adding that it may be accepted if one or two have a reason for not doing so.

Among the negotiators, the UAE and Bahrain are already members of the Accords, and Trump expects Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Pakistan, Turkiye, Egypt and Jordan to sign up. On criticism of the possible deal with Iran from within the Republican party, Trump asserted that the draft under negotiation was the "exact opposite" of the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA) finalised under the then President Barack Obama. PTI

Hezbollah, Israel military clash along Litani river ahead of Washington talks

BEIRUT

ISRAEL's military clashed with the Iranian-backed Hezbollah militant group on Tuesday along a strategic river in Lebanon as Israeli troops tried to push farther north, just three days before Lebanese and Israeli military delegations are set to meet for direct talks in Washington. A previously reached ceasefire appeared more nominal by the day, complicating efforts at a broader peace in the Iran war, as Tehran wants an end to the fighting to include Lebanon.

The Litani River has been a de facto boundary in Lebanon, with large areas to the south under Israeli military control despite the Washington-brokered ceasefire in place for over a month. The latest strikes and clashes came after Israel's Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said he had authorized more intensive strikes targeting Hezbollah across Lebanon. Meanwhile, an Israeli security official said the military had called up an additional battalion to Lebanon, speaking on condition of anonymity in line with regulations.

Israel's military said it struck more than 100 Hezbollah sites across southern Lebanon and the eastern Bekaa Valley area overnight, saying it targeted storage facilities, command centers and observation points used to attack Israeli troops and residents in northern Israel. One strike hit the eastern village of Mashghara, killing 12 people including several members of a family, Lebanon's state-run National News Agency said.

Israel in recent days has intensified strikes in Nabatieh city and province, just north of the river. On Tuesday it warned city residents to leave.

Hezbollah, meanwhile, said it launched several rocket, artillery and exploding drone attacks on Israeli troops and vehicles mobilizing along the river toward the Nabatieh villages of Yohmor al-Shaqif and Zawtar al-Sharqieh. Hezbollah's Al-Manar TV said the militant group repelled attacks along the river banks. AP

US to raise Afrikaner refugee cap by 10,000

WASHINGTON

THE Trump administration said Tuesday that it will admit an additional 10,000 white South Africans into the US as refugees this year, increasing its historically low annual cap but still blocking people from other countries from entering through the programme.

Trump suspended the refugee programme on his first day in office and, since then, has turned it into a vehicle to allow Afrikaners - a group of white South Africans descended mainly from Dutch settlers - into the US Advocates say the decision to focus a decades-old programme on one group has left people around the world fleeing war and strife stranded and with few options.

The administration says Afrikaners are subject to persecution in their home country, a charge the government in South Africa denies. In the announcement on Tuesday on the Federal Register, Donald Trump said that because of "an unforeseen emergency refugee situation" he was raising the refugee cap. He blamed the South African government for "recent increases in the incitement of racially motivated violence" but gave no specific information. "I hereby determine that the admission to the United States of Afrikaners from South Africa in response to this emergency is justified by the grave humanitarian concerns and is otherwise in the national interest," Trump said in the announcement.

The administration indicated last year that it would admit up to 7,500, mostly Afrikaners, during the fiscal year stretching from October 2025 through September 2026, but last week, in a notice to Congress informing it of the increase, the administration said that "unforeseen developments in South Africa created an emergency refugee situation". The change raises the limit to 17,500. AP

Europe wilts under blistering heat as UK rewrites record books

LONDON

THE UK smashed a century-old temperature record for the second time in 24 hours on Tuesday as a spring heat wave continued to scorch parts of Western Europe, triggering government warnings about risks to life. Several drownings were reported in Britain and France as people tried to cool down.

A temperature of 35 degree Celsius was recorded at London's Kew Gardens and Heathrow Airport, Britain's Met Office weather service said, breaking the 34.8 degree celsius (record set a day earlier at Kew. The provisional readings smashed the long-standing record of 32.8 degree C set in 1922 and matched in 1944.

London also recorded a rare "tropical night," defined as one in which the temperature does not fall below 20 degree celsius.

Records also fell in France, where temperatures reached 36 degree celsius on Monday in the country's southwest and widely remained above 20 degree celsius at night.

The national weather service, Meteo-France, said a "heat dome," with heat held in place by a high-pressure weather front, was producing temperatures more than 10 degrees celsius above what used to be usual for this time of year.

Unpredictable and extreme weather are becoming more frequent as Earth's warming builds. Experts say unprecedented and deadly weather extremes that sometimes strike at abnormal times and in unusual places are putting more people in danger.

"We know beyond a shadow of a doubt that heat wave events such as this have been made more likely and more severe due to climate change arising from our emissions of heat-trapping greenhouse gases," said Peter Thorne, director of the ICARUS Climate Research Centre, at Maynooth University, in Ireland.

"But, nevertheless, many of the records being set, particularly in the UK and France, are mind-bogglingly crazy." AP

Taiwan overtakes D-Street; touches $4.95 trillion m-cap

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

DOMESTIC equity market is far more diversified than Taiwan's, even though the Taiwanese market has overtaken Dalal Street in terms of market capitalisation by a few billion dollars, Sebi Chairman Tuhin Kanta Pandey said on Tuesday.

Pandey said nearly 42% of Taiwan's market capitalisation is concentrated in a single stock. "We are a very, very diversified market. In Taiwan, there are concentrated stocks. There are very few. There are specific companies. The chip giant TSMC (Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company) and others, which are critical to the electronic supply chain, are getting a lot more fund flows, leading to higher valuations," Pandey said.

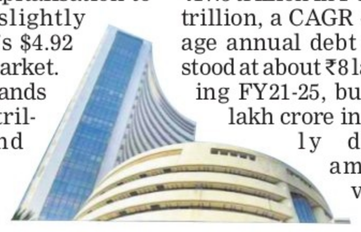
TSMC, the world's largest chipmaker, had a market capitalisation of $1.92 trillion as of Monday, making it the world's sixth-largest company by market value. This helped take Taiwan's market capitalisation to $4.95 trillion, slightly ahead of India's $4.92 trillion equity market. Taiwan's GDP stands at less than $1 trillion, at around $977 billion.

TSMC shares have rallied 49% this year, benefiting from the global artificial intelligence boom, where its semiconductors play a dominant role.

HEAVILY TILTED

1. 42% of Taiwan's m-cap is concentrated in single stock
2. Market capitalisation of TSMC's of $1.92 trillion
3. This helped take Taiwan's market cap to $4.95 trillion

Domestic equities have declined this year amid foreign outflows of over $53 billion in the past 18 months, driven by elevated valuations and a weakening rupee. The Sensex has fallen about 10,000 points from its peak of 85,762 on January 2, 2026, to a low of 76,908 on Tuesday. Addressing a corporate debt market event organised by CARE Ratings in Mumbai, Pandey said India's debt market has achieved major scale, with outstanding bonds growing from ₹17.5 trillion in FY15 to over ₹59 trillion, a CAGR of 12%. Average annual debt mobilisation stood at about ₹8 lakh crore during FY21-25, but rose to ₹9.1 lakh crore in FY26 — nearly double the amount raised via equity markets, he said.



Tata Board frets over loss-making biz

Heads of five heavily loss-making group companies present their turnaround strategy in the board meeting

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE six-member board of Tata Sons held a meeting on Friday, during which the heads of five heavily loss-making group companies presented their turnaround plans.

With three board seats vacant, including one representing the Tata Trusts, the board currently has only six members. Those present at the meeting included Natarajan Chandrasekaran, Noel Tata, Venu Srinivasan, Harish Manwani, Anita M George and Saurabh Agrawal, sources said.

26K cr
loss Air India has reported during the tenure of outgoing chief executive Campbell Wilson

The crucial meeting, which lasted over five hours and ended late in the afternoon, didn't take up the reappointment of Chandrasekaran. The matter was originally scheduled for the failed February board meeting after Noel Tata raised concerns over mounting losses at several group companies.

As per two sources aware of the developments, Noel Tata had sought a detailed turnaround strategy from Chandrasekaran, making his third term contingent on the same. The board also didn't discuss the more contentious issue of the regulatory requirement for taking Tata Sons public. Chandrasekaran's term ends in early February next year.

Chandrasekaran declined to speak to reporters outside Bombay House, the headquarters of the conglomerate with businesses spanning salt, airlines, automobiles and semiconductors.

Chandra's 3rd term issue may come up in Jun 12 meet

The board meeting on Tuesday did not discuss the listing of the holding company or a third term for Chairman N Chandrasekaran. Both issues are likely to figure in the next board meeting on June 12, sources said.

The five companies are estimated to have closed FY26 with combined losses of ₹30,000 crore, up sharply from ₹10,905 crore in FY25, sources said. However, details of the turnaround plans and timelines could not be independently confirmed. Campbell Wilson, outgoing CEO of Air India, presented a turnaround road map for the airline, whose losses have doubled to about ₹26,000 crore under his tenure.

The second-largest loss-making entity is Tata Digital, which continues to incur losses running into thousands of crores. Its CEO, Sajid Shivnandan, also presented a plan focused on reducing losses. Randhir Thakur, who heads Tata Electronics and oversees the group's semiconductor and other critical new ventures, also made a presentation before the board.

The other two firms under scrutiny were Agratas Energy Storage Solutions, Tata Group's battery business focused on lithium-ion cells for electric vehicles and stationary energy storage, and Tejas Networks, which designs and manufactures telecom and networking products for 4G/5G, broadband and optical networks.

RBI CONCLUDES $5 BN FOREX SWAP; RUPEE FALLS 44 PAISE

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank's $5-billion dollar-rupee swap auction on Tuesday drew bids worth nearly double the notified amount, even as rupee came under renewed pressure amid escalating geopolitical tensions in West Asia and rising crude oil prices.

The RBI said it received bids worth $9.8 billion against the notified amount of $5 billion in the three-year dollar-rupee buy/sell swap auction announced on May 20. The central bank accepted bids worth the full notified amount at a cut-off premium of 910 paise.

The auction received 254 bids, translating into a bid-cover ratio of 1.96 times, of which 141 bids were accepted.

The weighted average premium of accepted bids stood at 920.64 paise, while partial allotment at the cut-off premium worked out to 18.10%. Both first and second leg settlements are scheduled for May 29. The swap is aimed at injecting rupee liquidity into the banking system while helping the RBI manage forex reserves and forward market pressures. Under the mechanism, banks sell dollars to the RBI and simultaneously agree to buy back the same amount after three years.

The auction comes at a time when rupee has been under pressure due to rising oil prices and tensions involving Iran. The local currency on Tuesday fell 44 paise to close at 95.70 against dollar after touching an intra-day low of 95.76 in the interbank market. On Monday, rupee had gained 34 paise to settle at 95.26.

Forex traders attributed the fall in rupee to higher crude prices, stronger dollar and weak domestic equities. Brent crude prices rose over 3% to nearly $100 a barrel following reports of fresh US attacks on Iran, offsetting hopes of a diplomatic breakthrough over the Strait of Hormuz.

DOMESTIC MANUFACTURING

Domestic industry loses ₹12k cr yearly in absence of anti-dumping duty

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA incurred an annual economic loss of ₹11,938 crore to domestic industry due to the absence of anti-dumping duties on 56 products recommended by the Directorate General of Trade Remedies (DGTR), according to a report released on Monday by C-DEP Research and the Centre for WTO Studies under the Ministry of Commerce.

According to estimates by C-DEP, implementation of the recommended duties could have generated annual foreign exchange savings of nearly ₹28,540 crore (nearly $3 billion) by enabling domestic manufacturers to cater to local demand instead of imports.

The report warned that if imports remain unchecked, they could adversely affect India's growth trajectory and employment generation.

"Under this scenario, cumulative economic loss rises from about ₹1.54 lakh crore in the current case set to nearly ₹2.68-2.70 lakh crore by 2030, with jobs at risk increasing materially as well," the report stated. The study cautioned that failure to impose anti-dumping duties could weaken India's manufacturing base and increase dependence on imports in key sectors by the end of the decade.

FOREX SAVINGS

As per C-DEP estimates, implementation of the recommended duties could have generated annual forex savings of ₹28,540 cr ($3 bn) by enabling domestic manufacturers to cater to local demand instead of imports.

It argued that India's manufacturing capacity would be adversely impacted by the uncompetitive price advantage enjoyed by unfairly priced imports, widening the demand-supply gap across several sectors.

"If unfairly priced imports keep suppressing domestic sales and investment, India may enter 2030 with higher demand but weaker domestic capacity," the report said, adding that the trend could stifle investments and create avoidable import dependence in sectors where India already has sufficient manufacturing capability.

Net neutrality: Airtel defends telco's priority postpaid plans

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AMID growing debate over net neutrality following the launch of Bharti Airtel's Priority Postpaid plans, the telco on Tuesday defended the service before a Department of Telecommunications (DoT) panel, saying the offering doesn't violate net neutrality norms or degrade service quality for prepaid users.

The company said the service, powered by 5G network slicing technology, is designed to provide a more stable and consistent network experience to subscribers without offering preferential treatment to any application or content. Airtel's Priority Postpaid service is available across postpaid plans priced between ₹449 and ₹1,749 per month, excluding GST.

The issue was discussed during a meeting of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Communications and Information Technology, which reviewed "Quality of Service (QoS) Standards and Consumer Protection in the Telecom Sector" with a special focus on net neutrality. Officials from the DoT and the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India briefed panel members on the matter of Airtel's plans. In its submission, Airtel said the service remains fully compliant with the existing regulatory framework laid down by Trai and the DoT.

"Priority Postpaid is implemented in a content-neutral manner and is consistent with the existing Trai and DoT framework. There is no blocking, throttling, content-specific prioritisation, zero-rating, or preferential treatment of any application," the telecom service provider said.

Airtel argued that restricting the use of key 5G capabilities such as network slicing could hamper the development and adoption of future technologies, including 6G, in India.

JK Tyre to invest ₹4,500 crore in Chennai plant

SANAL SUDEVAN @ Chennai

JK TYRE & INDUSTRIES on Tuesday said it plans to invest nearly ₹4,950 crore as part of its expansion plans over the next three years, with nearly 90% of the investment earmarked for its Chennai facility to expand passenger car radial (PCR) tyre production.

Responding to a query from TNIE, Chairman and managing director Raghupati Singhania said truck and bus radial (TBR) tyres will be manufactured at the company's Mysore and Chennai plants, while PCR tyre production capacity will be expanded in Chennai.

"Nearly ₹4,500 crore out of the total planned investment of ₹4,950 crore will be invested in the Chennai plant over the next three years in three phases," he said, adding that the expansion would increase TBR and PCR capacity by 24%. The company expects to commission the first phase of the expansion by August 2028, followed by the second and third phases in April 2029 and December 2029, respectively. An earlier expansion programme undertaken by the company is expected to be commissioned by the third quarter of FY27. JK Tyre also plans a capital expenditure of ₹1,000 crore during the current financial year.

The company said it expects raw material costs to rise by 16-20% in the first quarter of FY27 due to the West Asia crisis and intends to pass on the increase to customers. It is also planning another round of price hikes of about 6% across tyre categories in the near future after having already raised prices by 4-5% earlier.

Singhania said the company is shifting its sourcing focus for tyre raw materials towards countries like China, Taiwan and Korea. Managing director Anshuman Singhania said the company has secured EV tyre orders from automakers including Renault for the Duster, Tata Motors and Hyundai Motor. He added that the company commands a 50% share in the electric small commercial vehicle (SCV) tyre segment.

CFO Sanjeev Aggarwal said the company's EV tyre volumes grew 50% between the third and fourth quarters of FY26.

RISING COSTS

JK Tyre & Industries said the company expects raw material costs to increase by 16-20% in the first quarter of financial year 2026-27 because of the West Asia crisis and intends to pass on the increase to customers

Maruti Suzuki India has also asked company's employees to choose virtual meetings as preferred mode for engagements, while minimising the domestic travel, besides restricting foreign travel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest carmaker, Maruti Suzuki India (MSIL), said on Tuesday that it has taken steps, including work from home and restricted foreign travels, in response to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call for austerity and the need to mitigate the long-term impact of the West Asia war.

In a post on social media platform X, MSIL said that it is a timely opportunity to revisit and re-examine all their processes and make efforts to improve efficiency across all business operations, whether it is for national objectives or their own health of business. Accordingly management has given a message to all people to institutionalise several steps as part of the drive, added the company.

These include implementation of work from home (WFH) wherever operationally feasible to reduce commute related fuel consumption. "This is aligned with the company's remote working policy," it said.

To optimise travel, the company has issued a directive which said that "foreign travel to be avoided unless critical for business requirements". It also asked employees to choose virtual meetings as preferred mode for engagements, while minimising domestic travel.

DISINVESTMENT

Govt to sell 2% in CIL; likely to raise ₹2,500 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government will sell 2% stake in Coal India through the offer-for-sale (OFS) route at a floor price of ₹412 a piece. The OFS opens for non-retail investors on May 27, 2026 and for retail investors on May 29, 2026. At ₹412, the government would garner about ₹2,500 crore. Coal India shares are currently trading at ₹456.

With the OFS, the government will bring down its stake in Coal Indian from 63.1% to 61.1%. Meanwhile, the government has approved the Rs 121 crore bid by Skymap Pharmaceuticals for buying 100% stake in Indian Medicines Pharmaceutical Corporation Limited (IMPCL), a central PSU under the ministry of Ayush.

IMPCL was incorporated on July 12, 1978 with the prime objective of manufacturing and supplying standardised Ayurvedic and Unani Medicines. The cabinet committee on Economic Affairs (CCEA) granted 'in-principle' approval in November, 2017 for the strategic disinvestment of entire equity shareholding of IMPCL to a strategic buyer to be identified through a two-stage bidding process.

This is the third strategic disinvestment carried out by the Narendra Modi-led NDA government at the Centre. The earlier two – Air India and Neelanchal Ispat Nigam Ltd – were purchased by Tata Group.

SRI LANKA

HIKES INTEREST RATE BY BASIS POINTS TO 8.75%

Sri Lanka's central bank raised interest rates for the first time in over three years on Tuesday as it battles high inflation and a tanking currency fuelled by the Middle East war. The bank hiked its benchmark rate for short-term borrowing by 100 basis points to 8.75%, saying the conflict was having a negative impact on domestic prices and stability. The Middle East war, which began in late February, has effectively closed the Hormuz strait, a vital oil and gas trading corridor, driving up energy prices and stoking global inflation. Inflation in Sri Lanka more than doubled to 5.4% year-on-year in April, exceeding the central bank's 2026 target of 5%. Its currency, the rupee, has depreciated by more than seven percent against the US dollar since the beginning of 2026, the central bank said.

JAPAN

INFLATION GOES PAST BOJ'S 2% TARGET

Japan's core inflation as measured by a new central bank gauge accelerated in April and blew past its 2% target, data showed on Tuesday, helping make the case for an interest rate hike by next month. The reading underscored inflationary pressures and comes just after Bank of Japan Deputy Governor Ryozo Himino stressed that central banks must preserve market confidence in their commitment to rein in inflation. The core consumer inflation rate excluding one-off factors, as measured by the BOJ's new gauge, hit 2.8% in April, accelerating from 2.5% in March, as per BOJ data. The new index showed a much faster YoY rise than the 1.4% rate in the benchmark core consumer price index figure the government announced last week.

CHINA

CUTS INTEREST RATE TO RECORD LOW

China let the interest rate on a one-year policy loan to banks decline to a record low, as per the people familiar with the matter, a sign Beijing is stepping up efforts to support an economy that's losing momentum. Some banks borrowed from the People's Bank of China's one-year medium-term lending facility, or MLF, at rates as low as 1.45% in May, down from 1.5% in April, said the people, who asked not to be identified discussing private matters. This follows a similar drop of 5 bps in January. It remains unclear how much of the 600 bn yuan in MLF loans issued this month was priced at the lowest rate. The PBOC has stopped publishing the data since March 2025, when it revised the method for pricing the loan and started to allow banks to bid for and pay different rates.

RCB captain Patidar punishes sloppy GT

Batter cracks unbeaten 93 off 33 balls to help holders reach final

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

Rajat Patidar (R) celebrates his fifty in Qualifier 1 on Tuesday | PTI

CHASING the target, even if it is slightly above 200, was the way forward for both captains going into the IPL Qualifier 1 in Dharamsala on Tuesday. With both night matches at the venue this season won by the chasing teams, Gujarat Titans captain Shubman Gill had no hesitation in opting to field after winning the all-important toss. Delhi Capitals and Mumbai Indians had surpassed the 200-plus targets set by home team Punjab Kings with ease early this month.

Given the nature of the wicket at the venue where the ball holds in the beginning only to become a good surface for batting as the temperature comes down, Gill made the best possible call. Add to it, the small outfield which only makes defending a total, even if it is around 200-210, difficult. The plan seemed to be going GT's way till 13th over as defending champions Royal Challengers Bengaluru were still trying to break free and were in a tricky position at 128/3. Kulwant Khejroliya gave away just three runs in the 13th over making life difficult for both the batters — RCB captain Rajat Patidar and all-rounder Krunal Pandya.

The next over, bowled by India pacer Prasidh Krishna, however, shifted momentum in RCB's favour. Patidar, who was 14 off 10 balls before the start of the over, was dropped twice in the same over. A misunderstanding between Khejroliya and wicketkeeper Jos Buttler meant a top edge, which went high behind the gloveman, could not be pocketed. Two balls later, South Africa speedster Kagiso Rabada dropped an easy chance at deep square leg to hand Patidar a second life.

That over though yielded 12 runs but it also left Gill frustrated, who could be seen venting his ire from the outfield. The next over by Khejroiya proved to be the most expensive one as he leaked 28 runs. The over also saw a couple of misfieldings, two no balls and a wide. And that became the theme as the game progressed.

Patidar made the most of the reprieves he got, slamming an unbeaten 93 off just 33 balls — 83 of those coming from just 23 balls. His knock was laced with five fours and nine big sixes. Pandya, too, played a crucial role as he along with his captain added 95 runs for the fourth wicket from 45 balls. The devastating innings from Patidar propelled RCB to 254 for five in 20 overs. The last five overs yielded 86 runs for the team and also negated Gill's decision at the toss. Earlier in the innings, Venkatesh Iyer provided a flying start to the Bengaluru franchise, scoring a quick 19 off just 7 balls. He departed in the second over but the ever-reliable Virat Kohli then joined forces with in-form Devdutt Padikkal to steady the ship. The duo stitched together 72 runs from 38 balls.

GT then crawled back into the game by removing Kohli and Padikkal in quick succession. It was Kohli who was dismissed first as he played one from pacer Jason Holder on to the stumps. The West Indies pacer then sent back Padikkal a couple of balls later to tilt the balance in his team's favour. RCB scored 32 runs in the next four overs but the 13th over spelled doom for the Gill-led side. As was expected, GT batters cracked under pressure. Their openers fell cheaply. Despite Rahul Tewatia's 68, GT were bowled out for 162 in 19.3 overs. Brief scores: RCB 254/5 in 20 ovs (Patidar 93 n.o; Rabada 2/54, Holder 2/39) bt GT 162 in 19.3 ovs (Tewatia 68, Duffy 3/39).

Sportspersons' role in NSB unclear

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

AFTER notifying the National Sports Governance Act early this year, the Union government has notified the National Sports Governance Rules pertaining to National Sports Board (NSB) and National Sports Tribunal (NST) — the two legal arms of the sports ministry to settle dispute of various sports bodies, athletes and other stakeholders.

What seems interesting is that the gazette notification is silent on sportspersons holding office in any of the above bodies. Even the NSG Act does not throw enough light on sportspersons' role in the board and says, "The Chairperson and the Members referred to in sub-section (1) shall be appointed by the Central Government from amongst persons of ability, integrity and standing who possesses special knowledge or practical experience in the field of public administration, sports governance, sports law and other related fields, on the recommendation of a search-cum-selection committee comprising of such number of persons, having wide experience in public administration, sports administration and recipients of national sports awards, as may be prescribed."

Going by the government notification, an NSB chairperson's position will be equivalent to a secretary with the government of India, while members would be that of additional secretary. Even their salaries will depend on their positions held when they come to office. Basically, it will be an extension of government service in the secretary and additional secretary level. Notification also states that a person from statutory and autonomous body is also eligible to hold office.

What seems interesting, is that the various courts and sports ministry believe that sportspersons should be at the helm of affairs in National Sports Bodies but when it comes to National Sports Board, the notification is silent on sportspersons as head or member of the board. It needs to be seen if any sportsperson of outstanding merit would be heading or be part of the NSB or the board will be mere an extension of bureaucracy. The NSB is going to be the sole authority that will grant recognition to National Sports Bodies including the Indian Olympic Association and Paralympic Committee of India.

When it comes to search-cum-selection panel, it does talk about two persons who are recipients of national sports awards, but to be nominated by the central government.

According to the notification, the central government shall constitute a search-cum-selection committee chaired by the cabinet secretary and with sports secretary and one person possessing experience in sports administration as other members.

The NSB chief and other members can hold office for a term of three years and up to the age of sixty-five years and shall not be part of any "International Sports Body, National Sports Body or their affiliate unit, or any National Sports Promotion Organisation".

When it comes to the salary, "consolidated salary of five lakh sixty-two thousand and five hundred (fixed) per month (without house and car) in the case of Chairperson and five lakh rupees (fixed) per month (without house and car) in the case of the Members, which may be revised from time to time by the Central Government," says the notification.

NST chief and members

The rules outlines the composition of the board, term of office of the NSB and NST Chairpersons and other members. It also speaks about the salary, allowances and other condition of services. An NST chairperson will be eligible to draw a fixed salary of Rs 2.5 lakh, while members will receive Rs 2.25 lakh. They will be categorised as Group A officers of the Government of India and will be entitled to draw all the benefits of the said group with the same pay. According to the rules, the Chairperson of the Tribunal can hold office for five years and until the age of 70.

Time for Vaibhav vs SRH, Round 3

GOMESH S @ Chennai

ABOUT 45 days ago, when the Rajasthan Royals landed in Hyderabad for the match against Sunrisers Hyderabad, they were on a high. They had remained unbeaten in the first four games, and Vaibhav Sooryavanshi had already stamped his authority on world-class bowlers, making the cricket fraternity sit up and understand why he is a batting prodigy and not a flash in the pan. It seemed like nothing could stop him. He had taken on Bhuvneshwar Kumar, Jasprit Bumrah, Kagiso Rabada and Mohammed Siraj with such disdain that he seemed invincible. Then came Praful Hinge and Sakib Hussain. The young SRH pacers, backed by Ehsan Malinga, rattled the Royals like never before, reducing them to 9/5 in a 200+ chase. In the process, they also showed there were cracks in RR and Sooryavanshi's batting as the teenager got out for a first-ball duck. Later, Hinge would reveal how he wanted to get the teen sensation off a bouncer in the first ball. Round one went to Hinge and SRH.

However, Sooryavanshi, as said before, is not just any other up-and-coming cricketer. He took it to heart but did not say much about it. The teenager bounced back and got the team back on track as well. Then came the chance to make a statement in Round 2 when SRH visited Jaipur.

Sooryavanshi was not going to let that chance go. He smashed a 36-ball century before getting out on the very next ball. The shy teenager does not talk much, but with the bat in hand, he said he is here to stay. SRH went on to win the match — in fact, they have beaten RR twice this season — but Sooryavanshi won Round 2 with his bat. On Wednesday, Sooryavanshi will go up against SRH for a Round 3 — a knockout round — in New Chandigarh.

SRH top-order vs Archer

It's common knowledge that SRH boast a strong batting line-up and they'll be in the spotlight once again. RR will be relying on the pace and guile of Jofra Archer, who has 21 wickets with SR of 14.85.

Eye on Sooryavanshi

Teenager Vaibhav Sooryavanshi has been a giant presence this season and he'll be hoping to leave a big impression. If he gets going, the left-hander, with strike-rate of 232.2 (First among top scorers) this season, can take the game away from SRH.

Head-to-head

SRH have been the dominant side with a 100 per cent record in the last five meetings between the two sides. Overall, SRH have 14 wins while RR have 9 in 23 meetings.

The winner of Wednesday's tie will battle it out with Gujarat Titans on Friday.

French Open: Sabalenka, Gauff advance

ARYNA Sabalenka began her French Open campaign with a comfortable win on Tuesday. The Belarusian hurried through a 6-4, 6-2 win against Spanish World No 50 Jessica Bouzas Maneiro as temperatures continued to soar through the first week of the tournament.

The only real blip for Sabalenka as she returned to winning ways on clay after a surprise early exit from the Italian Open was her failure to serve out the match on Court Philippe Chatrier. But the four-time Major winner broke in the next game to book her spot in the second round after just 75 minutes on court.

"I'm super happy to be through. I feel like it was a tricky first-round opponent," Sabalenka said. Sabalenka will face France's Elsa Jacquemot in the Round of 64. Meanwhile, women's defending champion Coco Gauff defeated American Taylor Townsend, kicking off her tournament with a clinical 6-4, 6-0 performance.

The fourth seed joked the heat was "nothing" as she grew up in Florida, but added: "Honestly I felt more bad for the fans. Dang you're watching in the heat and I hoped no one passed out. So I'm glad I finished quickly." Select results (1st Rd): Men: Tsitsipas bt Muller 6-2, 3-0 retd; Vallejo bt Norrie (GBR x20) 7-6 (7), 2-0 retd; Walton bt Medvedev 6-2, 1-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4. Jyothi, Dhiraj targetting Asian Games glory with an open mind

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

IN the recently-concluded Asian Games selection trials, some of the prominent archers from the country — both recurve and compound categories — failed to live up their standards, thereby missing out on a spot in the national team for the multi-sport event.

Atanu Das and multiple Olympians Deepika Kumari and Tarundeep Rai were some of the notable names who missed out. Those who made the cut are part of the ongoing senior national archery coaching camp at the Sports Authority of India's (SAI) NCOE in Sonipat, which is set to go on until June 7. The 16 elite archers (12 are selected for Asiad) are currently looking to build combinations, marry consistency with an objective to win a medal during the Asian Games, which is scheduled to be held from September 19 to October 4 in Japan. While admitting that there were a few surprises, World No 3 compound archer, Jyothi Surekha Vennam, believed that the archers who were selected for the Asian Games deserve to be in the team. "I know it was a little surprising to see the result of who got selected for the Asian Games, but there is a very healthy competition in India. It doesn't matter if you're in the team or not. After so much process, those who are consistently performing, no matter what the situation is, are getting selected and moving forward and performing as well," she said in a virtual interaction facilitated by SAI on Tuesday. Additionally, she believes that the team has enough time to prepare, by taking part in the Archery World Cup Stage 3 and 4. "We can plan on things. If we are lacking on anything, we can improve those things and go ahead as a team," she said.

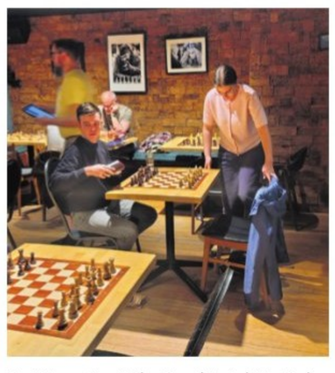
Welcome to Good Knight in Oslo, first chess pub

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Oslo

YOU may come for the beer but you will most likely stay for the chess. Ten minutes from Oslo's principal railway station is The Good Knight, the world's first chess pub. Opened exactly four days before Magnus Carlsen's defence of the world title against Fabiano Caruana in 2018 (the World No. 1 got word of the opening and showed up for the private opening), it has inexorably grown over the better part of the last decade.

On its shelves, there's a lot of chess literature (books about Jose Raul Capablanca, Viswanathan Anand, Garry Kasparov and Carlsen himself have their own space). Chess motifs and photographs of different world champions across eras adorn its walls. There's even a photo of Savita Shri, a 19-year-old Chennai WGM. The place is so into chess even the beer dispensers are in the form of a knight or a rook. In fact, on Monday, when this daily visited the pub, Norway Chess' Open tournament was going on.

The pub itself is linked to Carlsen. The place's co-owner is Kristoffer Gressli, a former employee at the Norwegian Chess Federation. The World No. 1's first coach — GM Torbjorn Ringdal Hansen — is a business partner. And Carlsen is also an occasional visitor to the pub. Gressli picks up the story. "Every other Thursday, we do have a trivia night and Carlsen, when he's here, takes part," Gressli says. "He usually wins that as well."



Participants at The Good Knight in Oslo, Norway | EXPRESS

Why a chess pub? "When I quit my job, I just knew I wanted to do something around chess," Gressli says. "I thought I could open a store with my friend (Hansen). The original idea was to sell training classes, books and chess sets. That's when another friend suggested 'a chess pub.' Because, with a pub, you could open it for at least 16 hours and not just eight to 10 hours. Five months later, we opened the place."

What really helped Gressli and Hansen was that the chess boom had already hit Norway thanks to Carlsen's first world title in 2013. Chess and alcohol aren't natural bedfellows, but "after a few beers, Norwegians suddenly aren't as introverted," Gressli smiles. Results (Rd 1; Monday) Open: Alireza Firouzja bt Magnus Carlsen, R Praggnanandhaa bt Wesley So (Armageddon). How Gukesh won a gruelling tie vs Keymer

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Oslo

FOR over 165 moves across both the first Classical game and the subsequent Armageddon clash against former Vincent Keymer, D Gukesh fought. First, he fought to not lose. Then, he fought to draw. Finally, he won.

He loves a knife fight on the board and was involved in one for almost five hours at the Deichman Bjorvika in the first round of Norway Chess on Monday. When the Indian teen made his opening d4 with the white pieces, the sky outside was blue, the waterfront outside shimmering. When it finally finished over five hours later, the sun had set, the tourists had gone home and the venue had almost run out of coffee. It was a thrilling game from wire to tape, with both players having chances to win. How the 19-year- old saved the draw from a totally lost position — at one point the German was up on the clock while having an advantage of roughly 12 pawns per the engine — even he will wonder. But the reigning Classical world champion will know games like these will act as a booster shot at a time when his confidence has taken a beating.

MYTHS & FACTS

THE FACT

Barcode scanners mainly detect the reflected light from the white spaces between the black bars

THINK AGAIN

Supermarket barcode scanners read the black lines on product

WHAT'S REALLY HAPPENING

1. Barcode scanners shine a laser or LED light onto the barcode. The black bars absorb most of the light, while the white spaces reflect light back into the scanner's sensor
2. The scanner measures this pattern of reflected and absorbed light and converts it into digital information representing a product code. Computers then match this code to product details such as price and inventory within milliseconds
3. The different widths and spacing of the bars create unique patterns that identify each product

WHY IT MATTERS

- Barcodes transformed retail and logistics by allowing products to be scanned instantly instead of entered manually
- Today, the technology powers supermarkets, warehouses, airports and delivery systems around the world, helping businesses track products quickly and accurately

WHAT IF

IF EVERYONE ON EARTH JUMPED AT THE SAME TIME

The idea sounds dramatic enough to trigger earthquakes or even shift Earth itself. But according to scientists, if every person on the planet jumped at the exact same moment, almost nothing would happen.

Even if all 7 billion-plus people gathered tightly into one place, Earth would barely move. Scientists estimate the planet would shift by less than the width of a hydrogen atom while people were airborne, then immediately return to its original position once everyone landed.

The reason is simple physics. Earth's mass is unimaginably larger than the combined mass of humanity. Scientists studying far bigger ideas estimate that even slightly changing Earth's speed would require launching around 1 billion massive rockets simultaneously.

COSMIC SPIN

Are all galaxies going in the same direction?

When we think about galaxies, we imagine enormous spinning systems of stars, gas, dust and dark matter drifting through space. At first glance, their rotations should appear random. Yet scientists have found certain patterns in how some galaxies spin.

A vast "cosmic web" of dark matter, gas and galaxies is believed to influence galaxy motion. These interconnected cosmic filaments pull matter into dense regions where galaxies gradually form and begin rotating.

This idea is explained through the tidal torque theory (TTT), developed by physicist James Peebles in 1969. The theory suggests that uneven matter distribution in the early universe created gravitational imbalances that exerted twisting forces, or torques, on forming proto-galaxies. As gas collapsed inward under gravity, conservation of angular momentum flattened it into rotating discs.

However, galaxies do not all spin the same way. Some rotate clockwise while others spin counterclockwise. A study by Kansas State University scientist Lior Shamir suggested that nearly two-thirds of galaxies in his dataset rotated clockwise, though the finding remains controversial. Scientists have also found that smaller galaxies often have spin axes aligned parallel to cosmic filaments, while larger galaxies tend to rotate perpendicular to them. Some researchers have even explored whether the universe itself rotates, but no observational evidence has confirmed this.

New wearable patch to monitor foetal health

A new wearable technology has been developed to help doctors monitor foetal and umbilical cord health, especially in high-risk pregnancies. University of California San Diego (UCSD) engineers have created a soft, wearable ultrasound patch that can continuously monitor a foetus for hours at a time. The new wearable ultrasound patch is designed to stay on the body and continuously track the foetal anatomy and blood flow in real time, without requiring manual guidance of the ultrasound probe. Conventional prenatal ultrasounds only involve brief foetal snapshots and require trained sonographers to operate the equipment. But this new technology can ideally be extended to prenatal care in low-resource settings — like in remote villages — where skilled ultrasound technicians and continuous, long-term monitoring are often limited or unavailable. To overcome a major challenge in continuous foetal monitoring, UCSD researchers developed autonomous algorithms that track the moving umbilical cord automatically, enabling consistent foetal monitoring even during movement. The team now plans to make the wearable patch wireless and portable.

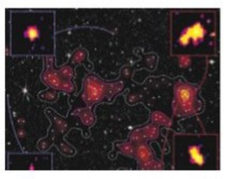
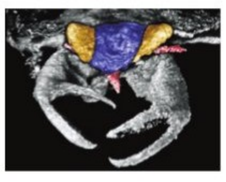
Loktak lake now written into cosmic history



An international team of astrophysicists has discovered a massive young galaxy structure dating back 12.6 billion years. Led by Indian researcher Ronaldo Laishram, the newly identified "Loktak Protocluster" offers fresh insight into how galaxies formed and evolved in the early universe when it was only 1.2 billion years old.

100-million-year-old bizarre bug had crab claws



Researchers have discovered a bizarre 100-million-year-old insect preserved in Myanmar amber with crab-like claws unlike those seen in any known insect. The newly identified species, Carcinonepa libererrantes, was studied using high-resolution 3D scans and likely hunted small prey in ancient coastal forests.

BRAIN CANDY • TARDIGRADES OR WATER BEARS CAN SURVIVE RADIATION, FREEZING, BOILING AND EVEN OUTER SPACE

Wi-Fried brains

In a world full of digital stimulation, brains now more than ever need boredom to think, create and reflect

MODERN LIFE HAS ALMOST ERASED BOREDOM

Small moments of silence that once existed naturally, waiting in queues, sitting in traffic or simply resting are now instantly filled with scrolling, videos and notifications

BORED BRAIN BEHAVES DIFFERENTLY

Neuroscientists say boredom activates the brain's "Default Mode Network" (DMN), which is linked to self-reflection, imagination, memory and internal thinking

NOT ALL BOREDOM IS HEALTHY

Experts warn that occasional boredom can be beneficial, but chronic boredom and emotional emptiness are linked to anxiety, depression and impulsive behaviour

> You need to be bored. You will have less meaning and you will be more depressed if you never are bored
>
> ARTHUR BROOKS, HARVARD PROFESSOR

THE LOST ART

SMALL HABITS MAY HELP RETRAIN THE BRAIN

Experts recommend simple practices such as walking without headphones, keeping phones away during meals and allowing short periods of uninterrupted silence daily

'BOREDOM CAN IMPROVE CREATIVITY'

Studies show people often perform better on creative tasks after boredom because mind-wandering helps form new ideas and unusual connections

CONSTANT STIMULATION MAY INTERRUPT DEEPER THINKING

Psychologists argue that repeatedly reaching for phones during quiet moments prevents the mind from wandering naturally and reflecting on emotions, identity and meaning

WHY SILENCE NOW FEELS UNCOMFORTABLE

Researchers believe modern technology has trained people to avoid unstimulated moments, making stillness and quiet increasingly difficult to tolerate

TAMREEN SULTANA @ Hyderabad

THE brain barely gets a moment of silence now before another notification, reel or glowing screen interrupts the thought.

A traffic signal turns red and a phone appears instantly. An elevator ride lasts seven seconds and somebody opens Instagram. A video ends, another begins, before the mind has time to sit still. Life now runs on endless stimulation, tiny dopamine hits delivered through glowing screens that follow people from the moment they wake up until they finally fall asleep beside charging cables and blinking notifications.

Boredom barely survives anymore. But researchers increasingly argue that this constant escape from silence may be quietly exhausting the brain. "Boredom definitely has a negative connotation. However, in today's day and age, boredom has started to seem like a luxury that few can afford. We have to consciously choose destimulation and boredom," said Shravya Saneev Merugu, counselling psychologist.

According to her, boredom is not simply the absence of entertainment but a mental space necessary for creativity, emotional processing and meaningful connection. "I believe boredom is an important part of creativity, coming up with novel solutions and most importantly spending time with ourselves in a way that reminds us what is most important, which is family and connection," she added.

Scientists are increasingly beginning to understand why. Research in neuroscience shows that boredom activates something called the Default Mode Network (DMN), a network of brain regions that becomes active when the mind is not focused on external tasks. Neurologists say this network is associated with self-reflection, memory, imagination and internal thinking. Unlike attention networks that activate while solving problems or scrolling through information, the DMN becomes active during daydreaming, reflection and mind-wandering.

Neurologists also note that constant digital stimulation keeps the brain in a near-continuous state of attention switching, leaving fewer opportunities for deeper reflective thinking.

Harvard professor Arthur Brooks says this uncomfortable mental state may actually be essential for meaning and happiness. "You need to be bored. You will have less meaning and you will be more depressed if you never are bored."

He explains that when people are not cognitively occupied, the brain shifts into the default mode network, where deeper questions begin surfacing. "What does my life mean? You go to uncomfortable existential questions when you're bored," he says.

Ironically, researchers believe modern technology may be interrupting this process constantly.

Brooks points to smartphones as one of the biggest reasons people rarely experience uninterrupted boredom anymore. Even brief pauses, such as standing at a traffic signal or waiting in line, are immediately filled with stimulation. "If every time you're slightly bored you pull out your phone, it's going to get harder and harder for you to find meaning," he says. "That's the recipe for depression and anxiety and a sense of hollowness."

Interestingly, several studies now suggest boredom may improve creativity under certain conditions.

A study in 2014 by Mann and Cadman found that people who completed boring tasks later performed better in creative thinking exercises, with researchers suggesting boredom encourages mind-wandering and unusual associations. A 2025 study by Krannich and colleagues similarly found that boredom during underchallenging tasks could boost creativity, though excessive stress or difficulty reduced it.

Experts say this distinction matters. While boredom can sometimes feel like stagnation or dissatisfaction, a constantly stimulated and stressed mind may benefit from periods of boredom, whereas excessive boredom in an understimulated mind can lead to emotional numbness. Researchers also warn that chronic boredom has been linked to depression, anxiety, impulsive behaviour, substance abuse and poorer emotional regulation.

But researchers also argue that occasional boredom and chronic emptiness are not the same thing. Instead, brief periods of unstimulated thinking may actually help people reconnect with themselves. "If we look at it from that perspective, I do feel like boredom or taking time for ourselves where we are not stimulated by digital media can help us spend time on problem-solving and searching for our personal identity," Shravya added.

The problem, researchers say, is that modern life increasingly trains people to fear silence. One famous 2014 experiment led by Timothy Wilson of the University of Virginia and co-authored by Harvard psychologist Daniel Gilbert found that many participants preferred giving themselves electric shocks rather than sitting alone with their thoughts for 15 minutes.

Brooks recommends simple habits such as exercising without devices, commuting without constant audio stimulation and keeping phones away during meals.

Perhaps that is the irony of life now. In a world where stimulation has become endless, boredom may no longer be something to escape. It may be something the brain quietly still needs.

Cherry on top pancake (top) and miso caramel pancake (right)

Japanese-style soufflé pancakes, known for being fluffy & several times bigger than regular pancakes, are becoming a hot new item on menus, with a few dedicated outlets popping up in Bengaluru

JIGGLE ALL THE WAY!

Barkha Sahu prepares to plate a soufflé pancake

Soufflé pancakes are sensitive. Even if you're one gram or one minute off, it can completely deflate the entire pancake. It took us a year to perfect the technique

Fatima Shareef, co-founder, O'fufu

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

IT wiggles, it jiggles, and who knows, if you smack it at the right place, it might even do the boogie-woogie. We promise this is not a tongue-in-cheek riddle; it's just the natural response to seeing a soufflé pancake for the first time – a cross between the airiness of a soufflé and the sponginess of a pancake, this dessert has gone viral not just for its taste but for its moves.

"I first came across them down a late-night Instagram rabbit hole. I saw a video of someone poking one and it just wobbled, and I remember thinking, 'That's not real!'" says Aly Payne, co-founder of Neon Market, which began offering the dessert in 2024, before the trend really took off in the city in the last year with several Asian-inspired cafes and restaurants introducing these visual treats on their menus. "At the time, it was niche, the kind only food bloggers knew about but not the Sunday brunch crowd. Two years later, they've become a staple; people travel from across the city specifically for them," she adds.

While the crowd, mainly made of young professionals, high schoolers and college students are drawn in by the dessert's viral looks, what keeps them coming back is its unique texture, notes Barkha Sahu, who offers it at her cafe, Ame's Japanese Kissaten. "The height, the plating, it's made for the camera. But the thing is, if it looks great and doesn't taste great, people won't come back," she says, adding, "People aren't used to food that feels this light. It's airy, warm and is paired with rich sauces."

Maryam Shareef, who co-founded souffle pancake outlet O'fufu along with her sister Fatima Shareef, agrees, adding, "We have miso caramel, strawberry compote, a simple maple syrup one and tiramisu pancakes and biscoff pancakes. But you can really play around with it. Someone even added three chocolate sauces – dark, milk and white." Following their first branch's growing popularity, the sisters recently opened a second outlet on St Mark's Road.

Sahu's taken this customisability a step further, creating savoury and breakfast-style options too, putting pancakes in dishes where you would expect rice, noodles or toast. "It's all about doing something slightly unexpected. We've built a breakfast-style pancake with hollandaise, eggs, mortadella and sausages. We've also done things like Mapo tofu on pancakes, which sounds wrong until you try it."

WHERE DO THEY GET THEIR MOVES?

While these airy delights might vanish from your plates in a jiffy, making them takes immense time. Payne emphasises, "The magic is entirely in the meringue. You whip the egg whites to stiff peaks and fold them into the yolk-and-flour base gently. All that incorporated air is what gives the height and jiggle. The cooking is also different, low-heat, steam-assisted and slower than a regular pancake. A soufflé pancake, done properly, takes 30 to 40 minutes while a regular pancake takes two minutes." Fatima adds, "Soufflé pancakes are sensitive. Even if you're one gram or one minute off, it can completely deflate the entire pancake. It took us a year to perfect the technique."

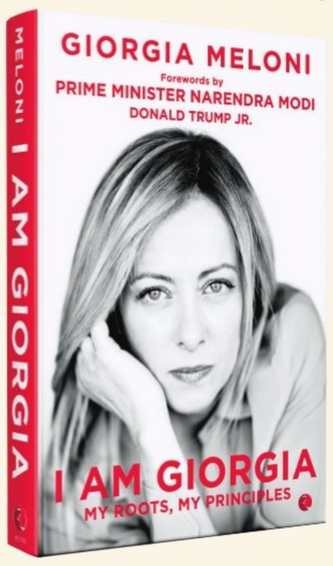
WHERE SILENCE GRAZES

Artist Aswathy Raveendran explores the relationship between humans and the vast landscapes they inhabit

'I'VE BECOME IMMUNE TO NASTINESS'

An excerpt from Italian PM Giorgia Meloni's book which has recently been gaining interest, especially in the light of PM Modi's diplomatic visit

TURNING PAGES



THAT said, I did have some challenging moments. Moments when I, too, had to confront ridiculous stereotypes. One instance that stands out was when I announced I was expecting my daughter, Ginevra. For the first time, I genuinely believed people might think I was unfit for an important political role because of my growing belly. In those days, the Center-Right was searching for a mayoral candidate for Rome. At the time, the city was led by a marvelous commissioner, following the distressing scandal surrounding Ignazio Marino – the surgeon-turned-mayor whom the Democratic Party had once fervently supported for the Campidoglio (Capitol), only to abandon him with ruthless cynicism after his expenses scandal. It was early 2016. I had learned just two weeks earlier that Andrea and I were expecting a baby. On the afternoon of January 30, I participated in Family Day at the Circus Maximus in Rome — a massive and deeply moving rally.

In a mix of happiness and euphoria, and feeling embraced by the warmth of the people in attendance, I instinctively shared the news with a reporter who was interviewing me. She looked at me in disbelief, aware that I was giving her a scoop. "Really?" she asked. "Yes," I replied, "God willing, the next time I'm here, it'll be as a mom, too."

A few hours later, the news had spread, and a wave of controversy and vulgar sarcasm exploded, amplified – as always – by the tremendous power of the internet and social media. The insults soon followed, ferocious and relentless. I'm used to being insulted – sometimes to such a degree that I've become immune to the nastiness – but not this time. Reading comments that someone hoped I would miscarry was deeply hurtful. Not for me – I've never been intimidated by keyboard warriors – but for the defenseless life I was carrying, which had unwittingly triggered such hostility. In that moment, I felt as though I'd failed my very first mission as a mother. I can still vividly recall the comic actresses who regularly appeared on RAI TV, the fixtures on talk shows who couldn't resist recycling offensive, hackneyed lines. For those self-proclaimed progressive thinkers, those modern, liberal women, I had no right to announce my pregnancy at a pro-family event simply because I was unmarried. I have often heard similarly ridiculous claims: if you're unmarried, you shouldn't defend the traditional family. It's as absurd as saying that if you're young, you shouldn't address issues affecting the elderly, or if you're human, you shouldn't advocate for animal welfare. That said, there were several moments of solidarity from political leaders expressing their support. I particularly remember Roberta Pinotti, then-Minister of Defense for the Democratic Party (Partito Democractico, PD), who sent me a pair of baby booties, along with a heartfelt message, quoting Dante, that essentially said "don't bother with them, just look and move on" (non ragioniam di lor, ma guarda e passa).

PIC: AP

Still, the controversy did not die down until Guido Bertolaso, former Head of the Civil Protection Department and the Center-Right's unofficia mayoral candidate for Rome, weighed in on television. He said aloud what many others were thinking but hadn't dared to express openly: "Meloni just wants to be a mom." In hindsight, I believe Guido's intentions were paternalistic, and that his words simply came out wrong — but at the time, it enraged me.

Just a few days after Family Day, fully aware of the risks that a pregnancy at my age could involve, I had announced my decision not to run for the Campidoglio, and removed my name from consideration as a candidate. Yet, Bertolaso's absurd comment about staying home with a baby bottle and a high chair, coupled with the chaotic handling of primaries and campaigns essentially run from under a temporary gazebo, made me change my mind. Ironically, Bertolaso had become a great motivator. And it wasn't the last time I chose to do something simply because I was told I couldn't.

(Excerpted from I Am Giorgia: My Roots, My Principles by Giorgia Meloni with permission from Rupa Publications)

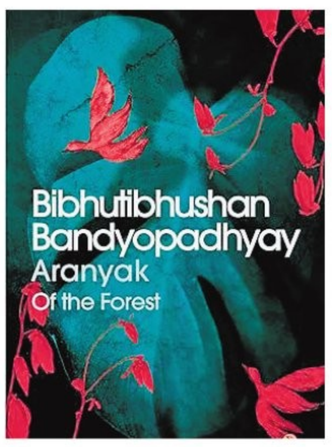
FOREWORD BY PM NARENDRA MODI

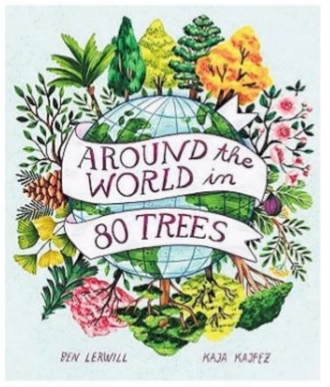
This autobiography, I Am Giorgia, gives readers a candid and rare glimpse into the heart and mind of one of Europe's and the world's most dynamic and vibrant leaders. It is also deeply personal. Her journey from a modest neighbourhood in Rome to Italy's highest political office highlights the power of purpose over narrow partisan politics. Her purpose of defending motherhood, national identity and tradition will resonate with readers in India. Her belief in defending one's cultural heritage, while engaging with the world on equal terms, mirrors our own values. Her compassion for her people and her ideas to take them on the path of peace and prosperity echo throughout the book. As I write this, I am reminded that India and Italy are bound by much more than treaties or trade. We are bound by shared civilizational instincts like the defence of heritage, the strength of community and the celebration of womanhood as a guiding force. Our nations are joined in spirit by a respect for tradition and an embrace of modernity. This is the bedrock of my own personal friendship with Prime Minister Meloni. As India and Italy deepen their partnership, this book will enrich our understanding of each other and reinforce the importance of human connection at the heart of global cooperation. I am confident that it will be well received as a refreshing story of an outstanding contemporary political leader and a patriot.

IN THE COMPANY OF TREES

FLYLEAF
V R FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)





WHEN my wife Deepali asked our son Vivaan, who is on the autism spectrum and non-verbal, what his idea of a perfect world might be, he paused, typed slowly, and offered three simple phrases: "No pain. Love always. More trees." When we asked him why he loved trees so deeply, he typed again: "Trees don't judge."

Vivaan's love for nature has slowly transformed us into pilgrims of forests. Whenever possible, we choose national parks over cities, trails over malls, silence over noise. The human being's relationship with trees is elemental. It is biological, cultural, psychological and philosophical all at once. It shapes how we breathe, think, build, and imagine meaning. At the most fundamental level, humans and trees are partners in survival. Trees absorb carbon dioxide and release oxygen; humans inhale oxygen and exhale carbon dioxide. Every breath we take is, in part, a gift from trees.

Dendrology, the science of trees, reminds us they have a complex intelligence that science is only beginning to comprehend.

In recent decades, science has revealed what we have naturally intuited – that trees reduce stress, sharpen memory and nurture creativity. Humans seem neurologically wired to respond to forests with calm and awe. Parks and gardens feel restorative because the mind recognises something ancient and familiar. The Japanese concept of shinrin-yoku, or forest bathing, captures this insight with elegance: being among trees is therapy.

Literature, too, has long sensed this truth. In Around the World in 80 Trees, Jonathan Drori travels across continents to reveal how trees shape every dimension of human life, from the romantic to the regrettable. The banyan tree in India, the lime trees of Berlin, the eucalyptus of nineteenth-century London, the redwoods of California – each becomes a portal into history, science, culture and imagination. Drori's book may appeal to a niche audience, but it offers a rare and subtle pleasure for those who enter its world.

Long before environmentalism became a buzzword, Indian literature was already grappling with the moral tension between nature and progress. Bibhutibhushan Bandyopadhyay's Aranyak remains one of the most haunting meditations on this conflict. Its protagonist, Satyacharan, arrives in a forested landscape as a manager tasked with clearing land for cultivation. Hypnotised by the beauty of the forest, he also becomes complicit in its destruction. Ancient trees fall, indigenous communities are displaced, and the promise of development brings waves of dispossession. Written in the late 1930s, Aranyak reads today like prophecy, a lyrical elegy for worlds erased in the name of progress.

If Aranyak mourns the destruction of forests, Tree: A Life Story by David Suzuki and Wayne Grady celebrates their endurance. By tracing the life of a single Douglas fir across a millennium, the book reveals the extraordinary complexity of a being we often take for granted.

The tree is a living universe, sustaining countless forms of life. Through poetic prose and scientific insight, Suzuki and Grady remind us that trees are not resources; they are relationships.

Peter Wohlleben pushes this idea further in The Hidden Life of Trees. Drawing on groundbreaking research, he argues that forests are social networks. Trees communicate, share nutrients, protect their young and warn each other of danger. Forests resemble families, communities bound by cooperation and care. Wohlleben's book indicates that perhaps intelligence is not exclusive to humans, and empathy is not limited to animals.

Vivaan may not have read these books. Yet, his intuition echoes their deepest insights. When he says trees do not judge, he implies that in the presence of trees, we are freed from performance. Trees do not demand success, identity, productivity, or ideology. They simply exist, and allow us to exist.

Vivaan's vision of a perfect world is a child's sentence. It is also a manifesto. And if humanity is to survive, it may have to listen more carefully to children – and to trees.

Anil Shetty, Saachi Bindra and Kunal Kapoor

Kunal Kapoor makes Kannada debut with Lambodhara 2.0

With Bollywood actor Kunal Kapoor stepping into Kannada cinema, Lambodhara 2.0 gears up for its final schedule as director Simple Suni and producer-actor Anil Shetty bring out a science-fiction social thriller with a universal theme

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Kunal Kapoor has officially joined the cast of Lambodhara 2.0, the upcoming science-fiction social thriller directed by Simple Suni. The film also marks the acting debut of producer-writer Anil Shetty, who plays the lead alongside Bollywood actor Saachi Bindra.

Kunal, known for his performances in Rang De Basanti, Don 2, Dear Zindagi, will be making his Kannada cinema debut in this project.

Talking about why Kunal was brought on board, Anil says the team was looking for a face that would surprise audiences. "This is not a typical villain role. Both Kunal and I play grey characters, and we want to leave the judgment to the audience. We wanted someone who could add value to the role, and surprise the audience. Kunal fit the character perfectly," he says.

Anil shares that the same thinking and deliberation went into casting Saachi Bindra in the film. "We wanted to introduce a fresh face and conducted extensive auditions. We had seen her work earlier and felt she brought the right energy and presence to the character," he says.

Director Simple Suni reveals that the core of Lambodhara 2.0 lies in its emotional and philosophical layers. Apart from Kunal, the film also features Malavika Avinash, Meghana Gaonkar and influencer Matha Machcha in pivotal roles.

Set against the backdrop of a world increasingly shaped by artificial intelligence and social media, Lambodhara 2.0 explores themes of happiness, loneliness, social validation, digital addiction and psychological control. Calling it a "science-fiction social thriller," Anil says the film attempts to venture into territory rarely attempted in Indian cinema.

SHIVARAJKUMAR TO TEAM UP WITH R CHANDRU

Shivanna is joining hands with the Kabzaa director for a project being planned on a big scale

A SHARADHAA

SHIVARAJKUMAR continues his steady run in cinema even after a career spanning over a hundred films. His upcoming films are spread across industries, including Peddi with Ram Charan, Jailer 2 with Rajinikanth, and Gummadi Narsaiah, adding to his strong pan-India presence.

In Kannada, his next film, Bail, directed by Pavan Wadeyar, is getting ready for release. He also has DAD and Hemanth M Rao's 666 Operation Dream Theatre, among others. Adding to this list, Shivarajkumar will next work with R Chandru, known for Kabzaa, on a new big project that is now in preparation and will be announced with a title soon.

R Chandru

Post-Kabzaa (2023), Chandru has not taken up directorial responsibilities, and according to sources, he has been working on a couple of subjects for the past couple of years. This film with Shivarajkumar is planned as a big-canvas project with a multi-language release. With Shivanna in the lead, the project is expected to feature actors from different industries.

Meanwhile, Shivarajkumar, who is juggling multiple projects, is also preparing to start shooting for Srini's A for Anand.

'HOW LONG CAN YOU PLAY THE GOOD PERSON'

...says Jyotika, who, along with Sonakshi Sinha, speaks about their latest film System, playing well-rounded characters, and the struggles of making a female-led film

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

THE one thing that grabs you while watching the legal thriller System is its stillness. The film, starring Sonakshi Sinha, Jyotika, and Ashutosh Gowariker, seems to be in no hurry. In an OTT landscape concerned with attention and retention, the Ashwiny Iyer Tiwari directorial favours depth over desperation. The narrative arrests you with just its visuals. It's a commendable feat for an Indian courtroom drama to be silent. "That's the beauty of the OTT space," says Sonakshi. "There is the option of making something that is meant to grab attention, and also something like this, which unravels slowly. Because of the silences, I think the film stays with you even after the credits roll." Jyotika agrees. "Silence catches your attention more than the dialogue," she says. "Anyway, in theatrical films you don't get to play with nuances, at least OTT gives you that option."

In the film, Sonakshi and Jyotika play a Sherlock-Watson-like team of a rookie, privileged prosecutor and a more observant court stenographer, respectively. The characters are layered, ambitious, real, and sans any sacrificial attributes women are usually portrayed with in mainstream films. "How long can you play the goody-goody person?" asks Jyotika. "In life, everyone is grey, so when you play such nuanced characters, you feel closer to reality," Sonakshi adds that as an actor, it also gives variety to your characters. "It's good to be bad sometimes," she says with a smile.

For female actors, getting nuanced characters takes a while. Both Sonakshi and Jyotika have had their share of roles, which can best be described as ornamental. Sonakshi started her acting career with Dabangg (2010), fronted and overshadowed by Salman Khan. Then came more "heroled" films like Rowdy Rathore (2012) and Son of Sardaar (2012). She believes that it's how the path has been laid for a female actor. "You have to work towards the layered roles," she says. "When you start off, you are young, you are hustling. If you get a big film, it doesn't matter what your role is, you have to say yes." She adds, "But you have to do it well, Which is why when I was doing a Dabangg or a Rowdy Rathore, I still got offered a Lootera (2013). The good, bad, or the ugly, every film that I have worked on and every person that I have worked with has taught me something. I think it's important to have all sorts of experiences." Now, however, Sonakshi seems to have become more particular with her choices. Her last few OTT releases (Dahaad (2023) and Heeramandi (2024)) showcase her acting abilities. "With age and experience, you realise that you want more out of life, out of the characters you are playing and out of the films you are being a part of," she says. "To respect yourself as an actor, you want people to respect you as an actor as well. So, you start making decisions according to that mentality."

Sonakshi remembers that this shift in her mindset came after she did AR Murugadoss's Akira (2016), an action-thriller where the actor got to kick some rears. "I kid you not, that was me tasting blood. I couldn't settle for anything less after that." But isn't it a struggle, we ask, for a female actor who wants to build a certain kind of portfolio? How do they say no to those big-budget films that are still coming their way? "This dilemma arises so many times," says Jyotika. "I can speak for the South industry. I have said no to many big-budget films. Just two to three years ago, I really needed some big banners and films to keep myself in the market, but I didn't feel like saying yes to them and bargaining with my good night's sleep."

Mango Pachcha charts an ordinary man's rise to the top

CE FEATURES

KICHCHA Sudeep introduces his nephew Sanchith in Viveka's Mango Pachcha, which blends crime, mystery and commercial drama

Mango Pachcha marks the acting debut of actor Kichcha Sudeep's nephew, Sanchith, and the makers unveiled the teaser of the film, which is set to hit screens on June 5. Set in Mysuru, the film will chronicle the transformation of an ordinary youngster into a powerful figure.

The life of Prashantha, played by Sanchith, fondly called Pachcha by his friends, takes a dramatic turn as he navigates hardship and societal pressures, eventually becoming 'Mango Pachcha'.

The trailer suggests a story of aspiration and resilience, following a middle-class youth who dreams of building an empire despite the odds stacked against him. His ambitions, the people who stand in his way and the battles he chooses to fight appear to form the emotional and dramatic backbone of the film.

Sanchith's voice as Pachcha, inspired by Sudeep's distinct style, sets the mood effectively as the film retains its rooted identity while building interest around its lead character and world.

The visuals point to a full-fledged commercial entertainer packed with action, family sentiment, romance and humour. Alongside Sanchith, the trailer brings several key characters into the spotlight. While Ugram Manju plays the protagonist's father, Kajal Kunder is the female lead, and Mayur Patel is taking on the antagonist's role. Produced by Priya Sudeep, along with Karthik Gowda and Yogi G Raj, the film also has Sudeep's daughter, Sanvi, singing a song in the film. Directed by Viveka, Mango Pachcha has music by Charan Raj, and will be distributed by KRG Studios.

PADDINGTON 4 IN DEVELOPMENT

CE FEATURES

PADDINGTON Bear's new onscreen adventure will be written soon, as the fourth film in the franchise seems to have found its writer. Armando Iannucci, an Oscar-nominated and Emmy-winning writer, is set to write the upcoming film.

Iannucci is known for Veep and The Thick of It. He is set to co-write Paddington 4 with Simon Blackwell, Iannucci's fellow Emmy-winner and Oscar-nominated writer who also worked on his shows. On the directorial front, the makers are circling Dougal Wilson, who helmed the third film, Paddington in Peru, to make a return to the director's chair. Other entries in the franchise include Paddington (2014), Paddington 2 (2017), and Paddington in Peru (2024).

THE LONGEST NIGHT

NAMRATA JOSHI

IN every Cannes Film Festival, there's always one film in the In Competition section that makes you second-guess why it was chosen to be part of the official selection. This year it has to be Lea Mysius's Histoires de la Nuit (The Birthday Party); an adequate enough home invasion thriller but perfectly out of place in the august company of Minotaur, Fatherland, Fjord or Another Day.

Adapted from Laurent Mauvignier's novel of the same name, The Birthday Party is defined by its tight, bounded world. A limited number of characters, an isolated home in a remote area for the setting, and action that transpires over one very long night. Thomas (Bastien Bouillon), Nora (Hafsia Herzi), their teenage daughter Ida, the painter-neighbour, Cristina (Monica Bellucci), and her dog are the primary players. They lead rather unremarkable lives till they are joined in Nora's birthday party by two expected, invited guests (Nora's colleagues) and three unwelcome ones. Secrets and lies and hidden skeletons in the cupboard come tumbling out as the family ties get tested. The entire edifice of relationships looks set to come tumbling down. How can it survive deception and betrayal of trust? Will any of them even live to tell the tale?

The crux of the problem is the predictability. There's not a single element, no twist or turn that is capable of shocking, spooking or agonizing you. It's for Benoit Magimel as Franck (who was in the same section at Cannes in 2023 in Tran Anh Hung's The Taste of Things), Alane Delhaye and Paul Hamy to bring in a much needed touch of the sinister and the overwhelming claustrophobia. They are aided in it by cinematographer Paul Guilhaume and production director Esther Mysius with their blue and grey palette and composer Florencia Di Concilio who create a sense of the ominous, diffuse gloom and doom on screen and make the heart of darkness come alive. Yorgos Lamprinos editing, swinging between the tardy and the rapid, gives a unique rhythm to the narrative. The atmosphere of extreme confinement, of being locked in is ably conveyed to the audience. The twin forces of violence on the one hand and arts, painting and music on the other invoke the deep-rooted disparities and dissonances further.

The Birthday Party is a character driven film, heavy on conversations. The protagonists and antagonists, both come with shades of grey, harbouring sensitivity as well as moral ambiguities within themselves. What makes them different is the side of theirs that they choose to amplify. Despite such a promising bedrock of storytelling, it's irksome to find Cannes talents like Monica Bellucci, Hafsia Herzi and Bastien Bouillon not getting much to sink their teeth into. Their presence remains disappointingly ineffective. On the other hand, the most compelling aspect about the film is the point of view of the precocious child Ida that Mysius chooses to tell the story from. It's her torrent of emotions—the anger and rebellion and revenge and retribution—that help the film gain in momentum and tension, help round it off on a sombre note and also lend it a belief system and spiritual core; that consciously stated lies that protect the near and dear ones from harsh reality are perhaps best forgotten and forgiven because they come from a space of concern and caring than duplicity and dishonesty.

Film: Histoires de la Nuit (The Birthday Party)

A film is as much about what it offers as the context and platform on which it does so. The Birthday Party is a middling thriller/hostage drama that would make for a decent one time watch on a streaming platform. But on the haloed screen of the Grand Theatre Lumiere, where it could have made for a welcome change from the arthouse fare, it doesn't come across as strong enough to grab attention and elicit a long ovation.
